Talking Trash Can Swallows Garbage Says 'Thank You'

BROOKVILLE, N.Y. (AP) — He talks, he sings, he makes slightly risqué suggestions and he swallows garbage.

He's Arthur, the talking trash can. His inventor thinks a kind word from Arthur encourages people to fill him with garbage rather than dump it where it doesn't belong.

Arthur is the brainchild of Charles Hamad, 24, of Danbury, Conn., a graduate student in psychology at C.W. Post College, and Dr. Jeff Corey, an associate psychology professor and Hamad's thesis adviser.

Arthur's voice is a tape cassette, activated when trash is stuffed into the 45-gallon can.

Arthur is a standard plastic trash can. There is a face painted on the lid, with blond hair, blue eyes and yellow teeth. The teeth surround a plastic mouth attached by a hinge, through which garbage is deposited.

When the mouth is pushed, the cassette is activated.

Hamad says he placed Arthur in a college dining hall for about four hours one day.

For the first hour, the cassette was turned off, and only 20 persons stuffed garbage in Arthur.

For the next three hours, the cassette was turned on and "a few hundred people" used Arthur, Hamad said.

But Hamad says Arthur has been used only for about 15 hours and more data is needed to confirm his theory that people are more likely to use trash cans if the can talks back, and to determine whether the novelty will wear off.

"Basically it's an example of behavior modification, it's merely a mild form of reward," Corey said.

Hamad says some students have had trouble coping with Arthur, the gabby garbage collector.

Hamad says some students have had trouble coping with Arthur, the gabby garbage collector.

"One person had keys in his hand and he thought it was a regular garbage can," Hamad said. "He was sort of taken aback by the response the can gave him. He dropped his keys in it and we had to take the whole thing apart to get his keys back."

Patty Hearst Bank Holdup Role Subject Of Dispute

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Was Patricia Hearst forced to take part in the Symbionese Liberation Army bank robbery?

Everyone from the U.S. attorney general to the governor of California seems to have a different opinion.

U.S. Atty. Gen. William Saxbe told a Washington news conference Wednesday he personally thought that Miss Hearst "was not a reluctant participant in this robbery."

He labeled the SLA a group of "common criminals" and said he included Miss Hearst "as part of them."

Miss Hearst was abducted Feb. 4. In the last communique from the SLA, which claimed it kidnapped her, Miss Hearst scorned her parents and said she had joined her captors.

The FBI has issued a warrant for Miss Hearst's arrest as a material witness to Monday's armed holdup at a Hibernia Bank branch, in which five bandits who identified themselves as members of the SLA stole $10,690. Two bystanders were shot during the getaway.

PAT HEARST?—A woman identified by FBI as Patricia Hearst carries a gun during a bank robbery in San Francisco.

Authorities said Miss Hearst was identified as one of the five from automatic photographs taken in the bank during the holdup.

Miss Hearst's father, newspaper executive Randolph A. Hearst, refused to comment on Saxbe's remarks, except to call them "speculation."

In Sacramento, Gov. Ronald Reagan said he believed Miss Hearst acted under duress — "There still is no conclusive proof that she was there or participating of her own free will."

U.S. Atty. James L. Browning Jr. said a federal grand jury is reviewing the evidence and might issue indictments by next week.

Edward Shea, 66, a guard at the bank, said the woman identified as Miss Hearst took an active role in the holdup, "giving orders and all that, saying she would shoot the first guy that moved."

"She wasn't scared. She let it be known that she meant business. She had a gun and looked ready to use it."

After studying the photographs, Miss Hearst's mother, Catherine, said she wasn't convinced her daughter was even a participant.

Egypt May Enter New Middle East Fighting

ISRAELI SHELLING—A Syrian Army ambulance, center, evacuates wounded from village in southern Syria during heavy Israeli shelling.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Israeli planes bombed and strafed Syrian positions on strategic Mt. Hermon again today, Egypt hinted it might join the battle, and another terrorist explosion erupted in a Tel Aviv suburb, injuring 13 persons, officials reported.

The Israeli planes scrambled following artillery barrages aimed at Israeli troops occupying the 9,232-foot mountaintop, often described as Israel's Middle East eyes, an Israeli spokesman said.

At the same time Syrian gunners also opened up on Israeli forces in the southern sector of the 300-square-mile Syrian enclave captured last October, the Israelis said. But the Syrians charged the Israelis with firing first. It was the second straight day Israeli planes were called into action and the fourth time in a week.

Israel has held all high ground on Hermon since the October war. From the craggy windswept top viewers can see Damascus and beyond, the Israelis say.

In Cairo, War Minister Ahmed

Ismail said Egypt would fight alongside the Syrians if the situation on the Golan Heights became critical.

Ismail, who is commander in chief of the armies of both Syria and Egypt, said: "If the fighting became more serious or the situation became critical, no doubt we will take part."

In the Tel Aviv suburban village of Pardes Katz, an Israeli-made hand grenade exploded, wounding 12 Arabs and one Jew, the Israeli military command reported.

The blast came as Israel sirens sounded throughout the Jewish state marking the annual day of mourning for six million Jews slaughtered by the Nazis in World War II, and less than 24 hours after the body of a Jerusalem taxi driver was found wired to a booby trap.

Guerrilla sabotage bombs have been going off in Israel almost daily for the past few weeks.

The Israeli military command reported a one-hour air attack on the Mt. Hermon range Wednesday but gave no details. It said all the planes returned to their bases.

Bar Group Eyes Nixon And Mitchell

NEW YORK (AP) — The City Bar Association is probing allegations of professional misconduct against President Nixon and former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell.

The investigation could lead to their disbarment in New York state, according to John G. Bonomi, the association's chief counsel.

The probe is part of a nationwide investigation by bar associations into all lawyers allegedly linked to the Watergate case and related matters, Bonomi said.

Information for the probes has come from Special Watergate Prosecutor Leon Jaworski and the Senate Watergate committee, Bonomi said Wednesday in a telephone interview.

Also involved in the city probe are Gordon Strachan, a former aide to H.R. Haldeman, former White House chief of staff; David R. Young, former co-director of the White House "plumbers;" and an unidentified lawyer, Bonomi said. All are licensed to practice in New York.

John D. Ehrlichman, former presidential adviser; Herbert W. Kalmbach, Nixon's former personal attorney; and political saboteur Donald H. Segretti are the subjects of similar investigations in California where they are licensed to practice, he said.

Any disbarment proceedings against the President will be held up and will rest on the question of whether a President in office may be prosecuted in the courts or subpoenaed to appear before an investigating committee, excluding a congressional impeachment panel, Bonomi said.

Public Hearings Set On Hospital Lands

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Public hearings will be held in Cleveland and Garfield Heights to determine the future use of Cleveland State Hospital lands and buildings, Gov. John J. Gilligan said Wednesday.

Gilligan said a study by the state Department of Economic and Community Development suggested recreational use of the mental hospital, which is to be phased out by the end of April.

4 Dozen Solons On Junkets

WASHINGTON (AP) — While Congress is in recess, nearly four dozen senators and representatives are traveling overseas at taxpayer expense — "feeding at the trough" as one State Department official put it. Many are accompanied by their wives.

The legislators are members of delegations to international conferences in Romania, Malaysia, Korea and Taiwan.

Their itineraries also include stops in Paris, Athens, Istanbul, Singapore and Hong Kong. They travel in Air Force planes, and at each stop are eligible for $75 a day spending money. On two of the trips, the congressional delegations will meet with legislators from other countries to "talk and pass resolutions on international topics of the day," said the State Department official who asked not to be named. A third group will look on as observers while outgoing Treasury Secretary George P. Shultz participates in the annual meeting of the Asian Development Bank in Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia.

On all three trips, some wives are going along "for protocol reasons," said an aide to Rep. Melvin Price, D-Ill. Price and his wife are part of a 50-person delegation headed by House Majority Leader Thomas P. "Tip" O'Neill, D-Mass., attending inter-parliamentary conferences in South Korea and Taiwan.

The State Department handles arrangements for most overseas trips but refers all queries concerning itineraries to Capitol Hill.

Asked why the State Department would not release unclassified information relating to travel at public expense, one department official explained that "their first allegiance is to the congressmen, and you don't want to be running around advertising that your principals are feeding at the trough."

Members of the O'Neill delegation are stopping off for two days in Hong Kong, with the option of a side trip to Saigon, on the way to South Korea and Taiwan. Rep. Morris K. Udall, D-Ariz., and his wife went along because "Mo thought it'd be a fun trip," an aide said.

The group of 19 senators and congressmen, plus wives and staff members, attending the annual meeting of the Interparliamentary Union in Bucharest, Romania, are going by way of Greece, Turkey and Bulgaria, a memo to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee says, and will fly to Paris for the weekend before returning home.

Members of the House and Senate Banking committees left Monday aboard the plane carrying Secretary Shultz and will spend time in the Philippines, Indonesia and Singapore before arriving in Kuala Lumpur next week for the two-day meeting of the Asian Development Bank.

The cost of the foreign travel will remain largely hidden from public view. Flights aboard Air Force planes disappear into the mammoth Pentagon budget while the State Department absorbs much of the cost incurred by various U.S. embassies charged with entertaining the visiting congressmen.

The $75 a day in expense money also is furnished by the State Department in the form of U.S. owned foreign currencies. Members are required to make public the amount of these so-called "counterpart funds" spent in each country, but records of past accountings give little indication of what the money actually was spent on.

Members are required to make public the amount of these so-called "counterpart funds" spent in each country, but records of past accountings give little indication of what the money actually was spent on.

There also are incidental expenses such as a Navy doctor reportedly assigned to travel with the O'Neill delegation as "physician in attendance" and the cost of inoculations administered without charge to members prior to their departure.

Regardless of what budget the money comes from, all expenses are met with funds originally authorized and appropriated by Congress. "It's a nowin situation," the State Department official said. "It's all money appropriated by the selfsame congressmen who are spending it."

Simon To Tackle Inflation Problem

WASHINGTON (AP) — The country's high inflation rate will replace the energy crisis as the number one challenge for William E. Simon, President Nixon's choice as his fourth secretary of the Treasury.

Nixon named the 46-year-old millionaire and former Wall Street investment banker to succeed economist George P. Shultz, who steps down in May after nearly two years at the Treasury Department helm.

Simon has served since December as head of the Federal Energy Office. The White House said he will be succeeded as energy administrator by his deputy, John C. Sawhill, 37.

Simon's appointment as Treasury secretary is expected to touch off a struggle among Nixon's economic advisers to gain a portion of the considerable influence over economic policy-making held by Shultz.

Nixon said he would take a more active hand himself in economic planning and will head the important Council on Economic Policy, a post previously held by Shultz.

Other positions held by Shultz that will not go to Simon include assistant to the President for domestic and international economic policy, which will remain unfilled for the time being, and chairman of the Cost of Living Council, a position of declining influence that will be filled on an interim basis by council director John T. Dunlop.

Sources say that Simon will face a difficult challenge in the international policy-making arena from Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger, who Monday showed his interest in this field in an important statement on U.S. foreign economic policy delivered to the United Nations in New York.

But Simon is said by aides to feel the major problem facing him as Treasury secretary will be the country's worsening inflation rate, which saw consumer prices rise 8.8 per cent last year, and at a 12 per cent rate during the first two months of this year.

Simon is said to generally support the approach to inflation followed by Shultz, including steps to increase agricultural supplies combined with conservative spending and money supply policies.

Like Shultz, Simon is cool to economic controls.

Simon likely will give additional details on his thinking on ways of combatting inflation when he appears before the Senate Finance Committee for confirmation hearings, expected early next week.

Pregnancy Benefits Ruled On By Court

ST. MARYS, Ohio (AP) — The 3rd District Court of Appeals in Allen County has ruled that female employees at the St. Marys Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co. are eligible for 52 weeks of disability benefits for pregnancy.

The court Wednesday issued a ruling supporting an arbitrator's decision which extended the benefits beyond a six weeks' limitation in the disability contract. The court said once the company and union decided to submit to binding arbitration, that decision would hold.

Demo Election Wins To Shape Strategies

WASHINGTON (AP) — And now Bob Traxler takes his place beside John P. Murtha, Richard VanderVeen, Thomas Luken and Robert Lagomarsino.

Their collective clout in Washington doesn't add up to much. They are, after all, the most junior members of the House of Representatives.

But the way they got there will be a significant factor in shaping campaign strategy in both political parties for the congressional election season just ahead.

For they are the men who won the special House elections of 1974, all in what had been safely Republican districts. All but Californian Lagomarsino are Democrats.

"No Republican should assume he has a safe seat any more," said Sen. Robert P. Griffin of Michigan, the Senate GOP whip.

Democrat Traxler's victory in the Saginaw, Mich., area made it four out of five for Democrats — and while the White House said President Nixon was not disheartened, some Republicans who will be running in November obviously were.

"It appears some Democrats are riding the President's coattail to Washington," said Republican Gov. William G. Milliken of Michigan, where VanderVeen earlier captured another traditionally GOP House seat.

In each of the five special elections, the issues raised had included national and area economic problems, Watergate and the President himself.

Although Nixon spent a day campaigning for Traxler's Republican opponent, the White House maintained that the President had not become the big issue in Tuesday's election.

No one can prove or disprove that

Nixon's situation was behind the Republican defeats there and elsewhere. But each of the districts involved went Republican by a landslide margin in 1972, before the scandals unfolded.

Together, the five elections point to a protest vote aimed at the Republican White House.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., who is running for re-election this year, said he was concerned about a backlash against all Republicans because of Watergate.

Vice President Gerald R. Ford said the trend in the special elections pointed to an overwhelming Democratic majority in the House next year. "One party control is not good for America," Ford said.

That, and the comments of other Republicans about the danger of damage to the two-party system itself, sound a good deal like the GOP comeback theme that followed landslide congressional losses in the 1964 presidential defeat of Sen. Barry Goldwater.

The special elections, the polls, and other indicators of the national mood, are likely to lead many Republican candidates to seek to put some room between themselves and the administration, particularly the President. Nixon was quoted weeks ago as saying privately that he understood some Republicans would find it necessary to do so. Democratic candidates are just as likely to do what Traxler did, and try to depict their GOP rivals as Nixon men.

Ford and other GOP leaders said the Democratic special election victories should have no bearing on House action on Nixon's impeachment.

Of course, there are four more Democratic votes now.

But the political situation could have a more significant, indirect effect on Republican House members. The defeats, the polls, and in many cases, their own surveys of constituents, indicate that the President's political power has ebbed to the point at which it doesn't have to be a factor in their individual decisions on impeachment.

While politicians weigh the impact of their elections, Reps. Traxler, VanderVeen, Lagomarsino, Murtha of Pennsylvania and Luken of Ohio will have to start campaigning all over again.

The terms they won last only for the balance of this year. To stay in the House, they'll have to run and win again in November.

Pledges Latin Trade

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has pledged efforts to lower U.S. trade barriers with Latin America and said he will encourage American private investment in the region.

Serving as host for 24 Latin American foreign ministers at a White House dinner Wednesday night, Nixon listed trade and private investment as two essential ingredients for overcoming Latin America's development problems.

On private investment, one of the most sensitive areas in inter-American relations, Nixon said, "we recognize that each government has the sovereign right to determine the rules for investors in its country, but we also believe that private investment is the richest potential source of technology, capital and organizational skills the developing world needs."

The ministers dined with Nixon after spending the afternoon in private, informal consultations with Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger. The

Steel Prices Likely To Rise

WASHINGTON (AP) — Director John T. Dunlop of the Cost of Living Council says an estimated 13.6 per cent increase in costs for the nation's steel firms will result in sharply rising steel prices.

"We expect prices to increase substantially," Dunlop told a news conference Wednesday.

Steel companies will be free to raise prices without government interference when wage and price controls expire April 30.

"We think there will be rather substantial inflationary pressures in the economy growing out of steel prices," Dunlop said.

He noted that the pending price increases would be on top of the 9.2 per cent hikes already allowed the steel industry during the Phase 4 controls program.

The 13.6 per cent increase in costs projected by the steel companies would be for the period from Jan. 31 to July 31, according to Dunlop.

He said the cost pressures do not take into account new labor agreements reached in the steel industry last week, which observers say could add another 5 per cent to industry costs.

Higher steel prices force prices up for just about any product made of steel, including autos and home appliances.

Sterilization Lawsuit Filed

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A 36-year-old divorcee on public assistance has charged welfare officials in neighboring Armstrong County with illegally ordering her sterilization.

The suit, filed in federal court recently on behalf of Norma Jean Serena, is seen by her attorney as an unprecedented challenge of welfare department decisions involving the child protection system.

The complaint seeks in excess of $10,000 for compensatory damages for Mrs. Serena and in excess of $10,000 for punitive damages.

Mrs. Serena claims that two days after giving birth to her fifth child at Citizens General Hospital in New Kensington, in August 1970, she was sterilized without her consent or knowledge.

Marcel Pagnol Dies

meeting is a prelude to the annual meeting of the Organization of American States General Assembly, scheduled to begin Friday in Atlanta.

Diplomats reported the meetings with Kissinger, which wind up here today, were extremely cordial. According to U.S. officials, Kissinger suggested that Latin American grievances over U.S. private investment might be alleviated if the hemispheric nations established ground rules governing foreign investors.

One discordant note in the conversations was a unanimous expression of support by the Latin Americans for Panama's demand to gain control over the Panama Canal Zone.

But their apprehensions were directed mostly at a Senate resolution with 35 sponsors calling for "continued undiluted U.S. sovereignty and jurisdiction over the Canal Zone." U.S. officials said Kissinger pledged he will persist in efforts to draft a new treaty with Panama conferring eventual control over the zone to that country.

U.N. Seeks To Help Poor Nations

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Delegates to the special United Nations General Assembly have assigned top priority to measures aimed at helping the poorest countries stave off economic risk.

But they can't agree on where the money for the immediate special measures is coming from.

The "working party" of the Assembly's special economic session decided Wednesday night that various proposals for easing the present hardships of needy countries should be taken up ahead of longer-range matters.

Chairman Eustace Seignoret of Trinidad-Tobago asked for specific proposals in writing for the discussion starting today, midpoint of the special session.

A cabinet minister from Sri Lanka told the assembly that fuel, food and fertilizer price rises have brought "some developing countries...including my own...to the brink of a disaster."

It is a disaster "which could not merely imperil economic development programs but which could even threaten the very foundations of their social and political order... Some measures of urgent and immediate relief must be found while the ultimate solution is being sought," said Felix Dias Bandaranaike, the Asian island nation's minister of public administration, local government, home affairs and justice.

Bandaranaike said his country must pay 300 per cent more than it did in 1973 for oil, 162 per cent more for fertilizer and 170 per cent more for rice and flour.

Proposals have been submitted or are expected from Iran, France, Japan, Romania, Zaire, West Germany, Ivory Coast, Argentina, Algeria, the United States and Italy.

But there is a basic conflict over the main source of new funds to feed and fuel the approximately 30 poorest countries hit hardest by rising oil and fertilizer prices. Their added costs through the end of 1975 have been estimated at from $9.5 billion to $12 billion.

The industrialized countries are asking the oil exporting nations to contribute generously of their new wealth. Major Middle East oil nations have replied at the assembly that prime responsibility rests with the advanced nations.

A-C Board Offers 34 Contracts

Thirty-four teacher contracts were offered by the Amanda-Clearcreek Board of Education Monday night. The board also granted a leave of absence to Linda Bayliss for the 1974-75 school year so that she may work toward an advanced degree.

Applicants for the football coaching positions will be interviewed by appointment beginning 9 a.m. Saturday. A special meeting of the board will be at 1 p.m. that day to discuss the applications.

School entrance immunization requirements pursuant to the provisions of Section 3313.671 of the Ohio Revised Code were adopted.

The board expressed its appreciation to James Flanagan for assuming duties of athletic director for the remainder of the current school year. The Amanda sixth grade was also commended for its successful paper drive and the Stoutsville students were complimented on the collection of $161.10 for the Zenia area residents following the tornado.

A letter was read to the board from Mrs. Diane Eversole, elementary consultant, in appreciation to the home economics girls, Principal Gahn and the entire district for the opportunities afforded for the Title I in-service day.

Arrangements were approved for the alumni banquet to be served by Mrs. Florence Spangler assisted by Mary Louise Denney and Mae Shupe.

In final action, the board passed a resolution to participate in the Vocational Home Economics Child Development Program with a 50 per cent reimbursement. An advance draw was also approved and will be applied for in the amount of $28,000 general fund and $33,230 bond fund.

Robert Turner was present at the meeting to discuss the Citizens Committee for the Bond Issue. All the board members were present plus district superintendent W. A. Smith and building principals.

4 Sought In Escape Attempt

NEW YORK (AP) — Police today were seeking two men and two women who tried to cut through a steel partition to help three alleged Black Liberation Army members escape from prison. Their plot failed, however, when their acetylene torch ran out of fuel.

Police said the four went into a visiting area of the Manhattan House of Detention Wednesday night and attempted to free Albert Washington, 31, and Francisco Torres, 24, both now being tried in the murders of two New York City policemen, and Henry Brown, 25. Brown was acquitted in a separate cop-killing case but is being held for trial on charges of robbing a Brooklyn bank.

The four, who were said to have been armed with three handguns, used an acetylene torch to cut a quarter-inch steel partition separating them from the three prisoners in the visiting area.

While they were trying to execute their plan, they handcuffed two prison guards and locked them in booths normally used by visitors to talk by telephone with prisoners, Corrections Commissioner Benjamin Malcolm said.

Last December, four alleged sympathizers of the Black Liberation Army were arrested after they were discovered in a utility tunnel under a street outside the jail, also known as the Tombs.

Sawhill promised when his appointment was announced to send the President a plan by Nov. 1, to make the nation selfsufficient in energy.

But in an interview before the announcement Sawhill said it would take several years at least to achieve any substantial increases in U.S. domestic oil and gas production.

In the meantime, he said, the nation's imports of petroleum will continue to increase — making it even more vulnerable to sudden interruptions of supply, such as the recent Arab oil embargo.

During the next few years, the only way to reduce the imports and the threat is to reduce U.S. petroleum demand, he said.

"My approach would be to pursue very vigorous conservation."

Sawhill's attitude should be welcome to the administration's top environmental advisers, Environmental Protection Administrator Russell E. Train and Chairman Russell W. Peterson of the Council on Environmental Quality.

Train charged Monday that energy conservation was mostly just talk so far and said he saw no great push in that direction by the Federal Energy Office, which has authority over energy conservation programs.

Peterson is urging a national goal of reducing the growth rate of energy consumption from its recent 4 or 5 per cent a year to 1.8 per cent.

Sawhill talks in terms of a 3 per cent energy growth rate.

But rather than setting an arbitrary target Sawhill says "we've got to put in front of the American people some of the difficult choices we have to make."

"Let's say we can build another Alaska pipeline but there are environmental and resource costs; or we can drive in smaller cars and maybe save enough gasoline to make the pipeline unnecessary. We've got to make that kind of choice," Sawhill said.

The FEO plans to hold public hearings this summer on the issues involved in the drive for energy self-sufficiency.

A Page Of Opinion

Diabolic Intrusion

Many government officials regard efficiency as a one-way street. They are horrified by the mere suggestion their own bailiwicks might need streamlining or perhaps should be eliminated.

But let anything — including a system of checks and balances — stand in the way of their professional ambitions and they love to fall back on the cause of efficiency to justify removal of the obstacle.

An example is the periodically resurrected proposal to establish a central "data bank" in the federal government. This would consist of a computerized depository of information about each citizen.

The purpose, presumably, would be to collect information now on file in hundreds of government offices. This could include everything from medical records to grades earned in school from the earliest years through college — and much more.

Credit rating, income, employment and practically any other aspect of his life of each American would be on file for federal officials, and possibly state and local counterparts as well, to use at will.

Such a Big Brother concept is dangerous to individual liberties. Computers are not fit guardians of personal histories because they lack judgment in at least two important respects: they divulge their data to anyone able to push the correct button, and they lack the human quality of being able to evaluate the information they contain.

Individual personality traits, interests, ambitions, desires and talents change over the years, but these changes escape the coldly accumulated and perpetually stored data in a computer. Efficiency in this case would be bought at a high cost to individual privacy.

This scheme must be knocked in the head by Congress every time it reappears.

Sage Words On Taxes

ON THE LINE
By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK — Manu, an Indian sage, had a word about taxes that applies to these days of weeping and gnashing of teeth.

"To make the burden of taxes equal is not effected by a mere numerical proportion," he taught. "The man who is taxed to the amount of one-tenth of an income of 100 rupees a year, is taxed far more severely than the man who is taxed an equal proportion of an income of 1,000 rupees, and to a prodigious bigness more severely than the man who is taxed an equal proportion of 10,000 rupees a year."

Reads like another knock on Nixon, but Manu saged more than a thousand years before Christ.

Taxation, and rebellion against it, has shaped the affairs of man for longer than historians can compute. Egyptian nobles railed against an infernal old edict called an inheritance tax countless years before ancient Greece and Rome picked up that rip-off. A principal reason why we are a free nation today evolved from the fact that George III did not see fit to endow the American colonies with some of the tax relief guaranteed by the Magna Carta (1215) and the Bill of Rights (1689). The tax on tea, which led directly to the Revolution, was a small fraction of what you pay today on cigarettes, gas, plane tickets, and at the massage parlor.

The greatest hue and cry about taxes comes when someone who is ostensibly wealthy pays less than a working stiff. President Nixon's microscopic returns since entering the White House troubled more of the people who gave him his bountiful mandate than did Watergate. Two of the richest men the country has ever produced, Andrew Mellon and J. Pierpont Morgan, paid no tax whatever at certain periods in their lives and were hauled before Congressional committees. Morgan was saved by a publicity man who put a midget on his lap. Mellon amended with one of the great art museums of the world. Huge corporations, notably in the oil business, sometimes have coughed up smaller tax bites than, say, a charwoman.

Nobody loves a tax collector, not even one named Matthew, who became an Apostle. Collectors have been routinely slaughtered down through history, but before being done in they've put countless hundreds of thousands of tax dodgers (or wage earners who didn't have the money to pay) in jail. Including Al Capone. Westbrook Pegler once wrote that putting a master mobster-assassin like Capone in jail on a tax rap was like arresting Jack the Ripper for parking double.

Taxes led to the creation of one of the most familiar editorial cartoon characters: the pathetic man who, stripped of his clothes, is forced to wear a barrel. Ancient and modern uses of the pen berated taxes:

Plato, discoursing on tyrants, observed, "Has he (the tyrant) not also another object which is that they (the people) may be impoverished by payment of taxes, and thus compelled to devote themselves to their daily wants and therefore less likely to conspire against him?"

Thomas Pain mourned, "War involves in its progress such a train of unforeseen and unthought-of circumstances that no human wisdom can calculate the end. It has but one thing certain, and that is to increase taxes."

William Graham Sumner (1840-1910), who may have been later plagiarized by Franklin D. Roosevelt: "The Forgotten Man . . . delving away in patient industry, supporting his family, paying his taxes, casting his vote, supporting the church and the school . . . but he is the only one for whom there is no provision in the great scramble and the big divide. The Forgotten Man. He works, he votes, generally he prays — but his chief business in life is to pay."

The taxpayer is a kind of slob, thought Israel Zangwill (1864-1926): "The average taxpayer is no more capable of a 'grand passion' than of a 'grand opera.'"

Nonsense. There was more passion than ever, this time.

I still like Hal Boyle's plea of "temporary insanity" before his tax board. And Bugs Baer's letter in response to a sharp note from the tax collectors. He addressed it to the Bureau of Infernal Revenue. The letter started "Dear Slur: Yours of the 17th inst. received and dully noted."

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor:

April is Cancer Month. In Pickaway County, we are having our 1974 door-to-door Cancer Crusade the week of April 21.

We will have about 1,000 volunteers covering the entire county. We hope everyone will be looking for them and give generously to conquer this dreaded disease in our lifetime. If we happen to miss anyone in our campaign, we hope they will send their contribution to The Cancer Society, 140 W. Mill Street, Circleville.

Sincerely,
STEVE STEVENSON
1974 Cancer Crusade
Chairman

Dear Editor:

I am concerned about the existing conditions in our Westfall School District, and bringing an end to the "split school sessions." I feel a tremendous amount of pride for our schools, and feel our children deserve the best. We are going into overtime on May 7th, to pick up the 55 points that defeated the vote in the November election.

In answer to many questions raised, I list the following approximate figures:

1. The tax valuation for the Westfall District is $32,700,000.00.
2. The legally-imposed bonding capacity is 9 per cent or $2,943,000.00.
3. The remaining amount due on the High School building is $760,000.00.
4. This leaves a balance of $2,183,000.00 that could be bonded (explaining the possibility of building an elementary, Jr. high complex, which is estimated to cost $4,500,000).

5. The cost to build our new Middle School at this time is $1,670,000.00, an increase of $70,000 over last November's figures, an increase that could have been avoided, if 55 affirmative voters would have made the effort to vote.

We must continue to build and improve our school buildings by stages, just as we have done in the past. Your present school board has a lot of pride for each individual school, as evidenced by the improvements to our existing buildings over the past four years. They cannot be held accountable for past negligence. These buildings will last for several years and our children will get the necessary education, if we overcome the crowded conditions that do exist.

Isn't it time to stop running our buses from 6 a.m. to 6 p.m.? I don't believe you want to see this "split session school" continue indefinitely, and YOU, a registered voter, can do something about it. I have a tremendous amount of enthusiasm for successful passage of the Middle School Bond Issue on May 7th. Won't you help make this enthusiasm contagious over the Westfall District? It could be the nicest thing you do in '74.

2 Arrested In Slaying Of Ohio Girl

DECATUR, Ind. (AP)—Two young Decatur men were arrested today in connection with the weekend slaying of a Van Wert, Ohio, teen-ager, Cheryl Ann Felger.

Authorities said Ernest R. Tope, 21, and Timothy A. Heckert, 20, were being held without bond in the Adams County Jail here on preliminary charges of assault and battery with intent to commit a felony.

Miss Felger, 19, a Wright State University student, disappeared about 9 p.m. Friday after she left her home on her bicycle. Her body was discovered Saturday near an abandoned barn along an Adams County road. About 80 stab wounds were found in her partially clothed body.

Police said evidence indicated she had put up a struggle with her abductors. "We feel she was abducted, and we don't think they (her abductors) knew her," Adams County Sheriff Harold August said.

The question of whether she may have left voluntarily came up when her bike was found standing upright against a telephone pole close to her home. Later investigation disclosed the bicycle had been found lying in the middle of the road by a woman motorist who stopped her car and moved the bike.

A grand jury was expected to be convened this weekend to hear the case.

Strictly by hunch, Deputy Sheriff Carl White located a missing Circleville Oil Company safe submerged under a bridge on Island Road. All that was recovered from the undetermined amount of money and checks in the safe was $43.79, a few charge bills and two cents still wedged in the safe.

Municipal Court Judge Sterling Lamb made it clear that he did not approve of the way any of the principals acted in a case that developed when two motorists were accused of passing a school bus in late February. The drivers received suspended fines and the bus driver was reprimanded.

City police disclosed that an overnight visitor in the jail took his wrath out on the windows, breaking six of them.

The Capital University president declared in a Circleville Rotary Club luncheon talk that high school students during the past ten years have become more serious about a college education.

Responding to a call that had to be hurried to meet a rigid deadline, nearly 1,000 residents of Circleville and Pickaway County went on record against any move to admit the Chinese Communists to the United Nations.

Circleville's "Kid Baseball" program, a community venture so successful in its debut the year before, moved into its spring training stage with prospects of an even greater season ahead. The program went county-wide this year.

Safety Inspections Uncover Violations

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. John J. Gilligan says an intensive safety inspection program has uncovered 14,882 violations in eight months in business and industry.

The governor said Wednesday more than 2,000 inspections yielded an average of 6.2 violations per inspection. He said more than $175,000 in penalties have been collected.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

I have a hole in the septum of my nose. My nose becomes crusty and dried and I can barely get any breath through it. Can anything be done about it?

Mr. T.I.Vt.

Dear Mr. I.: The nasal septum is the wall that separates one side of the nose from the other. The front part of it is composed of cartilage; the back is a thin bone.

A hole, or perforation, through the septum may be the result of surgery, injury as a result of chronic nose picking, or exposure to chemical fumes.

Young people who have been sniffing cocaine are now sadly paying this additional penalty for their ill-advised habit.

Surgery for the repair of the septum has been tried. Unfortunately, the results are not always gratifying. The perforation may return, and get even larger.

Continued lubrication with simple mineral oil softens the crust and makes the condition more bearable. Steam inhalations may be soothing. There are also a number of excellent techniques that can be used by the ear, nose and throat specialist. This should make you more comfortable.

My 14-year-old daughter has a trichomona of the vagina. Isn't this most unusual in a young unmarried child?

Mrs. M.D.V.S.C.

Dear Mrs. V.: Trichomonas vaginalis is a common infection that is more annoying than serious. It occurs far more often in adults than in children. Yet children can become infected with the protozoan organism; trichomonas vaginalis.

It sometimes spreads through camps and schools when rigid rules of cleanliness are not observed. Frequent bathing and individual towels can prevent its spread.

There now are a number of excellent drugs which can control this condition.

Only recently, greater attention has been paid to the fact that husbands may harbor the protozoa on their skin, and thus continue to re-infect their wives.

This should be considered in cases of adult infection.

Business World

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Two of the giants of U.S. industrial life are showing their bruises from the energy controversy and are fighting their critics with unusually blunt accusations.

Says General Electric: "Appliances are not wasteful users of energy as the public has been led to believe." That belief, claim GE executives, is the result of "misinformation ... and downright bad advice." General Motors' outrage is directed at what it feels are smears contained in a booklet distributed by a Senate subcommittee alleging, among other things, that GM destroyed thriving street railway systems.

"General Motors did not destroy street railway systems," the company said in a 67-page reply. "They failed everywhere because they were no longer able to give adequate service."

It adds that the publication, distributed by the Senate subcommittee on Antitrust and Monopoly, "is replete with additional false and deceptive statements."

Neither company is likely to change attitudes immediately, but their claims seem to open a phase of the energy controversy in which opposing views might be better analyzed and the objective truth distilled from them.

One of the popular assumptions about the shortage is that the proliferation of electric appliances, such as toothbrushes and self-cleaning ovens and the like are among the chief culprits.

But, says GE, a self-cleaning oven uses only slightly more electricity than a conventional oven.

A statement released here in March said:

"It is essential to recognize that the 300 million major appliances presently in use consume a small fraction of our total energy. Only about 5 per cent of the total energy supply is being used in the home ..."

GM's anger was made known to the subcommittee in the form of a request to suspend distribution of what it terms a false, misleading document. If that document is distributed again, it asked that GM's position accompany it.

The chief causes for GM's anger were assertions that:

—GM aided the Nazis during World War II through its subsidiary, the Adam Opel Co., After the German invasion of Poland, GM claims, it had little effective control of Opel decisions.

—GM helped suppress rail transportation.

—GM helped destroy more than 100 surface rail systems, its motive being to promote the sale of its gasoline-using products.

The company's response was delivered to the subcommittee last week. A company spokesman said discussions were continuing with the subcommittee but that, so far as he could learn, no decision on GM's request has been received.

Lima State Case Reviews Said Needed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Lima State Hospital patients under observation after criminal offenses must have periodic reviews of their cases, the Ohio Supreme Court has ruled.

In a case involving a Cincinnati man, the court said Wednesday that patients may be held for a "reasonable amount of time," then some disposition must be made of their cases.

The court said if it has been determined that a person cannot be restored to reason, he must be given full consideration for commitment to a mental hospital.

The ruling was in a suit filed by Robert L. Burton, who was charged in Hamilton County Common Pleas Court Aug. 2, 1962, with passing bad checks.

Burton was found mentally unable to stand trial and sent to Lima "until restored to reason."

Nine years later, Burton filed an appeal in Allen County asking to be released from Lima State.

The court ruled Burton still was not capable of standing trial and referred the case to the Allen County Probate Court.

The probate court, finding it "unlikely" Burton would ever be able to stand trial, ordered that he be committed to the Dayton Mental Health Center.

Under Ohio law, persons convicted of sex offenses or other crimes, or thought to be mentally incompetent, may be sent to Lima State for observation before sentencing.

Committee To Back State Issue No. 2

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Newspaper publisher and former state Rep. E. W. Lamson has announced the organization of a committee to back Issue 2 on the May ballot.

Lamson said the objective of Issue 2 is "to remove an inequitable requirement that the auditor and one commissioner of each county wait two years longer than all other county officials to receive cost of living adjustments."

The Jefferson Gazette publisher said the issue does not provide for salary increases, raising taxes or enabling county officials to vote themselves pay raises.

News Of Interest To Women

The Circleville Herald, Thursday April 18, 1974

1900-1905 Ladies Society Minutes Read To Circle

Martha Circle of Community United Methodist Church met Monday evening in the church parlor with 16 members present. Miss Marie Hamilton read scripture from Deuteronomy, chapter 31:1-6 and Chronicles, chapter 15:7, and the poem "Where Can We Find Him?" by Helen Steiner Rice.

For the program, Miss Hamilton selected minutes from The Ladies Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church for January 1900 through December 1905.

On Sept. 20, 1900 the society met at the church. Discussed were wards holding socials in turn and plans made for wards 2 and 5 to have a social at the church on Oct. 5. It was reported $1.33 in the treasury with bills unpaid in the amounts of $5.88 for wallpaper, Finkle-Schleyer and Henderson $39.17 with a total indebtedness of $44.55. The social cleared $13.41. At the October meeting plans were made for raising more money with a New England Dinner.

Members decided that after payment of debts money should be used for furnishing and finishing the parsonage. Due to housecleaning time the dinner was abandoned for the present.

The November meeting was held in the home of Mrs. Lehman. Plans were made and carried out to serve a 25 cent supper from which they cleared $21.98.

In January new officers were elected and committees named with the most time spent discussing finances. At the March meeting tickets were distributed for lectures in April. "A Trip Around The World" was discussed at length. Plans were made for a tour of homes in horse drawn carriages.

At the January meeting of the following year officers were elected.

Esther Circle

Discusses Events

Plans for spring events were discussed by Esther Circle of Community United Methodist Church during its recent meeting in the home of Mrs. William Cox, Knollwood Village. Mrs. William Fisher opened the session with prayer.

The June breakfast was discussed and plans made for participation of Esther Circle for the annual event. The Mother and Daughter banquet for all women of the church will be held 6:30 p.m., May 1, in the church basement. Reservations are to be made by April 26.

Ruth Tootle presented an Easter program. She displayed representative symbols of the Lenten and Easter seasons. She gave a review of Catherine Marshall's spiritual insight into Peter Marshall's sermon "The First Easter." The closing prayer was from Malcolm Boyd's "Are You Running With Me, Jesus?"

'Scoop' Jackson Enjoys Home Life

WASHINGTON (AP) — Capitol Hill duties and an avowed interest in considering another bid for the Democratic presidential nomination mean these are busy days for Sen. Henry M. Jackson.

But the four term senator from Washington State tries to find as much time as he can to be with his wife and two young children.

Youthful looking at 61, Jackson as chairman of the Senate Interior Committee has been a key figure in congressional efforts to deal with the energy crisis.

He is also chairman of the Permanent Investigations Subcommittee and a senior member of the Armed Services Committee. An advocate of a strong military posture, Jackson has been an outspoken champion of Israel and a critic of U.S. Soviet detente.

Jackson first came to the Capitol after being elected to the House at age 28. Initially elected senator in 1952, he was re-elected in 1970 with more than 80 per cent of the vote.

Outside his home state, Jackson's major political strength is among leaders of organized labor and party officials in the South and West.

Jackson got the second most votes at the 1972 Democratic National Convention. Though he intends to delay any formal decision for at least a year, he makes no bones about his interest in another presidential race.

After getting up early, the senator shaves, gives his son Peter, 8 a good brushing up, then he's downstairs for breakfast—plus a good morning kiss from his 11-year-old daughter, Anna Marie.

Jackson shares a moment with his wife, the former Helen Hardin, whom he married in 1961 after long years of bachelorhood. He manages to do a bit of tinkering with his 1961 automobile. Then he's off to his Capitol Hill office.

Kathy Uland Candidate In Pageant

KATHLEEN A. ULAND

The Columbus Maiden of Roses Pageant announced that Kathleen Ann Uland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Franklin J. Uland, 592 Oakland Terrace, has been accepted as a candidate in the Annual Maiden of Roses Pageant.

The 1972 Miss Pumpkin Show will graduate from Circleville High School with the class of 1974, and plans to attend Ohio State University.

The Pageant, slated June 15 and 16, offers up to $1000 in a scholarship to the winner, made possible by the Columbus Rose Foundation with the runner-up also receiving a $400 scholarship from State Auto Mutual Insurance Company.

The Maiden of Roses and Court of four are selected primarily on the basis of school and community activities. Poise and beauty are also important, as the girls will represent the park at parades and special events throughout the coming year.

Miss Uland will be interviewed by all members of the Selection committee, June 15 and will attend a luncheon at noon and a dance Saturday evening.

Activities will begin 2:30 p.m. Sunday on North High Street ending at the Park. A concert is scheduled 4 p.m. with the pageant at 5:30 p.m.

The public is invited to attend the Sunday activities.

Ehrlichman Said Believing Nixon Not Effective

LOS ANGELES (AP) — John D. Ehrlichman's friends in Seattle say he privately has expressed disappointment with President Nixon and thinks Nixon's effectiveness is at an end, the Los Angeles Times said today.

The report also said friends — interviewed on the understanding their names would be concealed — had said Ehrlichman was convinced that an 18-minute segment of taped conversation between Nixon and former White House chief of staff H.R. Haldeman had been erased deliberately.

The report said Ehrlichman had been shocked to learn of the existence of the tapes in Nixon's office, and held it against Haldeman for not telling him.

Ehrlichman himself declined to be interviewed or comment on the friends' paraphrased remarks, the Times said in its dispatch from Seattle.

Sneek-A-Peek AT BOOKS IN THE CHILDREN'S LIBRARY

There are worlds to explore in fantasy and true adventure for children in the middle grades. In "Freckle Juice" by Judy Blyme we meet Andrew who is just old enough to want what other kids have and too innocent to know he's being tricked. The strange concoction he is forced to drink to have as many freckles as Sharon could bring an attack of gastritis to anyone. Or, it could magically bring freckles!

New adventures about the secret seven are awaiting mystery lovers. In "The Secret Seven and the Case of the Missing Medals," the club generously tries to help an old gentleman recover his lost medals. It could be the work of a gang of boys known to be troublemakers or a young man entirely too helpful. So the club braves the dark of night to solve the mystery. In their "Bonfire Adventure" they face robbers right in their grandmother's kitchen. And, in "The Case of the Stolen Car" they are actually hidden passengers in their own car while it is being stolen!

Most ghosts clank about in castles, right? Certainly they have no business on McBroom's farm where barbed wire and a keen-nosed pup are to be reckoned with. But something lurks about in "McBroom's Ghost" by Sid Fleischman and the goings on are scary and fun.

For a visual delight share "Cars" with your boys. It's a pictorial encyclopedia in bright color. The history of such famous cars as the "Bug" are retold, along with cutaway diagrams of its structure. And the section on record-breaking racers and dragsters takes cars into the 70's. Drawings of all cars from family types to sports cars are included.

"The Big Book of Helicopters" answers a demand for more action books for boys. It includes a simple lesson on how they work complete with many easy to follow diagrams. And it is interesting to note their varied use including surveying in mountainous areas.

An "Album of Dinosaurs" is a new publication under the direction of the Field Museum of Natural History. These oversize monsters with 2 ounce brains in 2 ton bodies are among the most popular books in the children's room.

"The Rock-Hound's Book" by Seymour Simon is another new book. In addition to the color pictures of the common minerals, beginners can proceed to set up a collection with this "how to" book. It tells how to identify rocks and, very importantly, where to look. Consideration for private property and the environment are mentioned.

To delight any young boy, Scott

Corbett, a very popular author with the light touch offers us "Dr. Merlin's Magic Shop." The world's greatest magician lures victims into his deadly den with gum drops. Kids will cheer as Nick struggles to regain his freedom. Browse through the children's room - you'll be glad you did.

Problems Surface In U.N. Assembly

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Confrontations are surfacing on all sides at the United Nations General Assembly special session on economics.

Conflicts between rich nations and poor, between oil producers and oil consumers, between socialist and capitalist countries, and between China and the Soviet Union have emerged in the last two days of debate.

Three major Arab oil countries, Kuwait, Iraq and Saudi Arabia, demanded Tuesday that the industrialized countries bear major responsibility for easing the economic hardship caused among the needy nations by the oil countries' hike in their prices.

"The greater part of it should be borne by the advanced industrial countries," Oil Minister Ahmed Zaki Yamani of Saudi Arabia told the assembly Tuesday.

He said his government gave more than $2 billion in foreign aid in 1973, and this made it the world's largest donor relative to national income and output.

Foreign Minister Sabah al Ahmad al

Jaber al Sabah of Kuwait told the session the advanced countries "have a historic responsibility because they are primarily responsible for the backwardness and privation which are the lot of the underdeveloped countries."

He said Kuwait is spending 7 to 8 per cent of its gross national product on foreign assistance while the contribution of industrialized countries dropped in 1972 from 42 of one per cent to 34.

China accused the Soviet Union of trying to sabotage the assembly proceedings by an "irrelevant" proposal to link economic development to East-West detente.

U.S. Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger on Monday urged against confrontations and appealed to the oil rich countries to use some of their profits to aid needy nations.

"I think most of the developing countries took the view that there was an implied threat in what he said," Nigeria's foreign minister, Okoi Arikpo, told reporters.

Set Strike At Ohio U For Monday

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — Members of the Student Workers Union have voted to begin a campus-wide strike Monday.

The strike vote came Wednesday night after some 50 student employees ended a one-day walkout at Nelson Commons cafeteria.

Union organizer Mark Stachwell of Columbus said the campus-wide strike "will continue until the university administration recognizes the SWU as a bargaining agent for all student workers or agrees to bargain in good faith."

The union claims to represent 240 of what it says is a total of 1,200 student employees on campus.

The university says there are 2,500 student employees on campus, but the union says it does not include students involved in federally-sponsored work-study programs and those who work less than nine hours a week.

The union claims that 86 per cent of the student employees at the cafeteria stayed off the job, although the cafeteria remained open and most non-student workers reportedly crossed the picket line.

9-Day Strike Against Kroger Comes To End

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Local 390 of the Retail, Wholesale and Department Store Workers Union ended a nine-day strike against the Kroger Co. Wednesday night by narrowly ratifying a three-year contract, 248-240.

All 60 Cincinnati supermarkets remained open during the walkout. A Kroger candy plant remains struck by the production, shipping, sanitation and oilers union.

The pact means a $1.58-an-hour raise over the three years. Base salary for six-year employees is now $4.20.

The union also won the right to respect the picket lines of other unions after 48 hours. The old contract said five days, officials said.

Office Space Costs Rise For State

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The State Office Tower across from the capitol will rent for about $8.5 million the first year, but the state faces sharply increased costs after July 1, 1975.

The Ohio Building Authority (OBA) the project financier, set initial rents for some 30 state agencies scheduled to occupy the tower.

OBA agreed that through July 1, 1975, the Gilligan administration will pay $8.12 a square foot. That would amount to about $8.5 million a year when the tower's 1,048,000 square feet of net rentable space is fully occupied next fall.

But, the three-member OBA board began last week to consider ways of refinancing the $60 million tower project in order to prevent rents from climbing rapidly to $9 or $10 a square foot.

OBA is financing the 41-story state tower through the State Insurance Fund, investment monies of the Ohio Bureau of Workmen's Compensation, with interest rates being recomputed every two years.

OBA originally agreed to pay the fund interest of less than 5 per cent. Last week it found itself approving a new, one-year, $76 million note at 8.6 per cent.

An administration analysis said an 8.6 per cent interest charge would force OBA to charge its state tenants about $8.75 a square foot in order to retire the debt in 30 years, $9.60 to retire the debt in 20 years.

Gilligan estimated an $8 a square foot rental cost in his 1973-1975 budget, but state officials only a month ago talked about $8.50 a square foot.

John B. Olsen, director of the Office of Budget and Management, called the $8.12 compromise a "conservative and solid figure." He said the administration couldn't afford more.

The administration tries to keep its agencies from renting space from private landlords at much more than $5 a square foot.

Still, the $8.12 beginning rate will cover only interest payments to the Insurance Fund and maintenance costs, Olsen said.

It probably will be insufficient to allow OBA to begin repayments on the debt principle, he said.

John Kessler, OBA chairman, said Insurance Fund interest rates meant the OBA must consider lower-cost financing.

Accident Prevention Lapse Under Attack

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — An eye safety expert has charged that no qualified safety officials are guiding accident prevention programs in the nation's schools.

James O'Neil of the Society for the Prevention of Blindness told the All-Ohio Safety Congress Wednesday every state and county department of education should be required to hire qualified safety specialists similar to those hired by major corporations.

Wheat Exports Below Prediction

WASHINGTON (AP) — Only a few months ago Agriculture Department figures showed wheat exports might shoot over 1.3 billion bushels this fiscal year and leave the U.S. bread grain reserve at practically zero by mid-summer.

But now some in the trade think shipments will have to pick up sharply in the next two months if wheat exports are to match the USDA's prediction of 1.2 billion bushels.

George S. Shanklin, one of the department's export watchers in the Foreign Agricultural Service, said Wednesday "we have no reason right now" to reduce the 1973-74 wheat export estimate below the 1.2 billion bushels projected earlier.

The possibility that wheat exports might drop significantly was raised by reports showing clearances from U.S. ports last week totaled around 8.5 million bushels. That was the lowest one-week export total in about two years, Shanklin said.

Wheat shipments from U.S. ports had averaged about 18 million bushels per week since Jan. 1. During peak activity last year they rose to more than 32 million bushels per week.

The low mark for wheat exports last week raised doubts among some grain traders that shipments would pick up enough from now on to boost the total for the year ending June 30 to the department's estimate of 1.2 billion.

Reports filed by exporters showed that nearly 932.8 million bushels of wheat had been shipped as of March 31 for the fiscal year which began last July 1. Wheat remaining for delivery

Money Available

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — John W. Cashman, director of the Ohio Department of Health, said Wednesday $134,477 has been made available to help restore sanitary conditions in tornado-ravaged Xenia.

to known destinations this fiscal year totaled 221.5 million, unknown destinations added another 58.1 million.

Thus, counting wheat already shipped and the total exporters said remained for delivery, the gross wheat exports by June 30 could total slightly more than 1.2 billion bushels.

Shanklin said the arrival of spring shipping from Great Lakes ports is expected to stimulate wheat exports from now on. Thus, he said, the 1.2 billion bushels estimated still appears a sound figure.

Assuming that, the wheat reserve on July 1 would be 180 million bushels, far below the 483 million bushels of last summer and the stockpile of 863 million on July 1, 1972.

Farmers will begin harvesting 1974-crop wheat in southern areas by late May, with the new crop developing for market in Kansas in early June.

Meningitis Is Traced To Hamsters

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — Health officials say they have traced an outbreak of a rare but usually mild form of meningitis in New York to hamsters.

The State Health Department said Friday the disease, called LCM, usually produces a flu-like illness with fever, muscle aches, pains and prostration. It normally is not fatal.

The hamsters, state and New York City health officials said, were bred in Alabama and were purchased between Dec. 4, 1973 and March 24, 1974. They were identified in tests as the carriers of the disease.

New York was one of eight states named Thursday by the U. S. Center for Disease Control in Atlanta, Ga. where a total of 93 cases of LCM have been reported. The others were California, Minnesota, Nevada, Florida, Massachusetts and New Jersey. LCM is an acronym for lymphocytic choriomeningitis. It normally is not fatal.

The New York City Health Department urged new hamster owners to isolate their pets in a ventilated room and to notify the department. They recommended that the 300,000 animals in the stock in question should be destroyed.

The American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals said hamster cages should be cleaned daily, and the droppings placed in a paper bag and burned.

Penn Central Capitulates To Teamsters

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Penn Central Railroad has capitulated to Teamsters Union pickets who had been resisting a railroad proposal to shift jurisdiction of several hundred workers in piggyback rail-truck terminals from the Teamsters to another union.

Pickets have seriously hampered freight and mail operations in terminals in New York City; Chicago; St. Louis; Boston; Cincinnati and Columbus, Ohio; Indianapolis and Elkhart, Ind.; and Weehawken, North Bergen, South Kearny and Port Newark, N. J. A management statement issued Wednesday night said the Penn Central had instructed the president of its division, Pennsylvania Trucking Lines, to offer the Teamsters "a return to the status quo."

A railroad spokesman said, "Pennsylvania Trucking Lines employees are now in the process of making contact with the Teamsters locals in order to determine if an agreement can be reached that will allow the Penn Central terminals to resume operations."

He said he expected there would be no final settlement until sometime Thursday, but added that the union had not mentioned any other grievances.

Teamsters officials have said their picketing meant that as much as 90 percent of the goods, including perishables, shipped by the Penn Central were rerouted to other railroads, causing delays of several days.

The strike was called because the Penn Central wanted to transfer the workers from the Pennsylvania Truck Lines to another division, which also would transfer them to the jurisdiction of the Brotherhood of Railway and Airline Clerks.

The teamsters asserted that their contract, running through 1976, barred the change.

Picketing began in the New York-New Jersey area April 1. It was halted by court action until last week, when a federal court judge in Newark lifted a temporary injunction against the picketing.

The railroad was rebuffed on a technicality when it attempted to file an appeal Monday in Philadelphia, and a second attempt on Wednesday was nullified by the company's statement later in the day.

A large ridge of high pressure stretching from the Gulf Coast to the Ohio Valley is now beginning to move eastward allowing an area of showers over the Mississippi Valley to pose some threat of ending Ohio's fair weather of the past two days.

A weak frontal system dropping southward across the Great Lakes also complicates the weather pattern somewhat. This front is producing very little active weather at the present time, according to the National Weather Service, but offers some threat of showers over northern Ohio by tonight.

Mild temperatures will continue south of the front today but some cooling over northern sections is likely tonight and Friday.

Cubs Blast Pirates; Win 18-9

By BRUCE LOWITT
AP Sports Writer

They call Chicago the Windy City—and the hurricane the Pittsburgh Pirates ran into was stirred up by the Cubs' George Mitterwald.

He hit three home runs Wednesday, one of them a grand-slammer, and drove in eight runs as Chicago's Cubs blew out the Bucs 18-9.

"I heard about this wind in Wrigley Field, but I didn't know it could be so beautiful," said Mitterwald, who came to Chicago in an off-season deal with the Minnesota Twins.

In Wednesday's other National League games, Montreal whipped the New York Mets 7-4, Philadelphia beat St. Louis 12-5, Los Angeles crushed Cincinnati 14-1, Houston downed San Francisco 3-2 and San Diego defeated Atlanta 6-1.

Mitterwald hit his basesloaded bomb in the first inning, smacked a homer with two men on in the third and socked one with the bases empty in the sixth.

In the eighth, Mitterwald doubled and, when got back to the dugout, the rest of the Cubs zinged him for not hitting a fourth homer.

"If I'd hit a fourth one, I would have fainted," he grinned.

He also got a run batted in with a bases-loaded walk in the fourth inning. "I wanted to try for another homer, but when the count went to 3-0, I was given the take sign," Mitterwald said. "So I got a walk and still produced a run."

Rick Monday, Jerry Morales and Bill Madlock also homered for the Cubs, whose first 10 runs came off Pittsburgh starter Jerry Reuss. Willie Stargell, Richie Hebner and Richie Zisk homered for the Pirates.

Expos 7, Mets 4

"I was kind of excited about getting my first major league homer here," said Barry Foote—and so were the rest of the Expos. It came at a most convenient time, leading off the bottom of the seventh inning, breaking a tie and propelling Montreal past the staggering Mets, who have now lost six straight games.

Bob Bailey also homered and Tim Foli drove in three runs for the Expos. Steve Rogers went the route, giving up six hits. Two of them accounted for all the Mets' runs, a pair of homers by Dave Schneck.

Phils 12, Mets 5

Mike Anderson had four hits and Bill Robinson three in Philadelphia's throttling of St. Louis, the Phillies' sixth straight victory, their best winning streak in four years.

"This is great," said Anderson, who enjoyed his first 4-for-4 game in the majors. "Everybody's sharing the load. With a man in scoring position, if you don't do the job the next guy will."

"The competition makes us all pull a little harder," Robinson agreed.

Dodgers 14, Reds 1

"Cincinnati is the team to beat," said Jimmy Wynn—and he had a hand in the beating administered by the Dodgers. He swatted his sixth homer of the young season, a three-run shot. But he was just one of many heroes. Steve Garvey slugged two homers, Dave Lopes hit a two-run double and Ron Cey had a two-run single.

Astros 3, Giants 2

Ollie Brown's walk, a wild pitch by San Francisco's John D'Acquisto and Dave Kingman's wild throw on Bob Watson's sacrifice bunt gave the Astros the winning run in the seventh inning.

"I wanted to make him field it," Watson said of Kingman, "That was the idea. I think it's the first time I ever bunted against the club."

Padres 6, Braves 1

John Grubb and Fred Kendall each drilled two-run singles in the third inning and Dave Winfield homered in the fifth to lead San Diego past Atlanta.

Jim McAndrew withstood 10 hits by the Braves, four of them by Ralph Garr. "He hit everything I threw up there," said the Padres' pitcher. "Fastball, curveball, forkball...I threw everything at him but the telephone book."

In Wednesday's American League games Milwaukee beat Cleveland 5-4 in 16 innings, Boston edged the New York Yankees 4-3, Baltimore blitzed Detroit 6-1, Texas trimmed Kansas City 4-2, California defeated Minnesota 5-3 and Chicago beat Oakland 5-3.

Spires Paces CHS Golfers

Jeff Spires mastered the Chillicothe Veterans Administration Hospital Golf Course Wednesday firing a three under par 33 to pace Circleville to a tri-match victory.

The Tigers low total of 156 was seven strokes better than Unioto's 163 and 53 strokes better than Huntington's 209.

Spires carded six pars and three birds in his round. Terry Spellacy carded a 40, Jeff Bohenko a 41, Jim England 42 and Mark McFadden 42.

For Unioto M. Haltz shot 38, J. Brock 37, G. Taylor 42 and B. Barnett 46.

Friday Circleville will host Washington C.H. and Logan Elm at Pickaway Country Club.

He also received a first place in his class in the back stroke and a second place for his breast stroke.

Nungester won first place in the distance javelin and qualified for national games in this event. Nungester also won second in the shot and discus and qualified for national games in these events.

Muirfield Course Wins Golfers OK

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — After personal inspections of Jack Nicklaus' newest golf course, Joe Dey and Deane Beman are dumping superlatives on Muirfield Village.

Their reactions strengthen speculation that Muirfield Village, a 6,983-yard course six weeks away from opening, will become part of the 1975 Professional Golfers Association tour.

If a tour tournament comes to Muirfield and Columbus next year, it would give Ohio four stops on the 1975 PGA national circuit.

Brewers Edge Tribe 5-4

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

After 15 innings of Gaylord Perry, the Milwaukee Brewers were happy to see someone else. They saw Ken Sanders—but they didn't see him very long.

With Cleveland's ace out of the game at last, Bob Coluccio immediately seized advantage of the situation and hit a home run that carried the Brewers to a 16-inning, 5-4 victory Wednesday night.

"Perry had a good fastball and slider and an awful lot of guts," said Coluccio. "That was the best I've seen him. When a guy 35-years-old throws that kind of stuff for 15 innings, that's super."

Although pitching almost two complete games, Perry didn't want out. "I wanted to stay in," said the Indians' star. "I could have gone more."

Elsewhere in the American League, the Boston Red Sox nipped the New York Yankees 4-3; the Baltimore Orioles beat the Detroit Tigers 6-1; the Texas Rangers defeated the Kansas City Royals 4-2; the Chicago White Sox turned back the Oakland A's 5-3 and the California Angels trimmed the Minnesota Twins 5-3.

National League scores: Montreal 7, New York 4; Chicago 18, Pittsburgh 9; San Diego 6, Atlanta 1; Philadelphia 12, St. Louis 5; Los Angeles 14, Cincinnati 1 and Houston 3, San Francisco 2.

Coluccio not only delivered the game-winning hit on a 3-1 pitch leading off the 16th inning, he also broke up Perry's no-hit bid earlier.

Perry had held the Brewers hitless until Coluccio, singled sharply to right with two out in the sixth.

Despite the sour luck, Perry was pretty content with his night's work. "I was mixing a fastball and a hard slider," he said. "The hard slider was rising and the fastball was sinking."

Red Sox 4, Yankees 3

Bernie Carbo and Bob Montgomery drove in eighth-inning runs, lifting Boston over New York. Pat Dobson of the Yankees fell apart after pitching no-hit baseball for six innings.

Dobson lost his no-hit bid and shutout when Carl Yastrzemski hit a home run in the seventh inning, when the Red Sox tied the game 2-2.

"I was throwing fastballs inside to the left-handed hitters all day," said Dobson. "Yastrzemski hit a high fastball that I got too far over the plate. I wouldn't have thrown that pitch with a man on base."

Orioles 6, Tigers 1

Baltimore jumped on Woodie Fryman for five runs in the first inning and Jim Palmer fired a five-hitter to lead the Orioles to victory over Detroit.

Fryman, 0-2, walked Bobby Grich and barked him to second to begin the outburst. Designated hitter Tommy Davis followed with a run-scoring single, then rookie Jim Fuller smashed a two-run homer, his first of the season.

Bill Slayback replaced Fryman and was greeted by a single by Mark Belanger, who drove in the fifth Baltimore run.

Rangers 4, Royals 2

Jeff Burroughs' tie-breaking double in a three-run eighth inning carried Texas over Kansas City.

Pinch-hitter Lenny Randle led off the eighth with a single and reached third when pitcher Gene Garber fielded Dave Nelson's bunt and threw the ball wildly past first base.

Toby Harrah singled to tie the game and, after Alex Johnson bounced into a double play, Burroughs doubled to center field.

White Sox 5, A's 3

Brian Downing's two-run homer capped a three-run, eighth inning for Chicago that carried the White Sox past Oakland.

Angels 5, Twins 3

Bob Oliver hit two home runs, then shortstop Sergio Ferrer's error gave California the tie-breaking run in a two-run seventh that carried the Angels over Minnesota.

Stars Defeat Pacers; Win Tilt 99-90

By FRED ROTHENBERG
AP Sports Writer

Winners don't want to arouse losers, and losers don't want to sound like losers.

That's why the talk coming out of the Utah and Indiana locker rooms Wednesday night sounded the same.

"We still have a big problem just getting out of this series and getting into the league championships," said Utah center Zelmo Beaty—one of the winners—after the Stars' 99-90 victory had given them a dominant 3-0 lead over the Pacers in their best of seven American Basketball Association semifinal playoff series. "Indiana's not out until the buzzer sounds in the final game."

"It's hard to be optimistic when your down 3-0," said Indiana Coach Bobby Leonard—one of the losers—"but it's not over yet. You're not out until you lose four."

In the other ABA semifinal series, the New York Nets clipped the Kentucky Colonels 89-87 and also took a 3-0 lead in their best-of-seven series.

There was no Wednesday action in the National Basketball Association playoffs. Tonight, the Milwaukee Bucks, up 1-0, meet the Bulls in Chicago. The Boston Celtics, holding a 2-0 lead host the New York Knicks Friday night.

Chicago's Cougars Homeless

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Cougars can't say there's no place like home.

They simply don't have one for their World Hockey Association semifinal playoffs with the Toronto Toros.

The Cougars can't play in the International Amphitheatre because the arena was stripped of ice-making machinery to set up a road show production of Peter Pan extending through April 28.

A Cougar spokesman said that when Peter Pan was booked at the Amphitheatre, "we weren't aware the contract called for the ice, refrigerating pipes and whole bit, to go out."

As a result, after the Cougars stunned the New England Whalers with a 3-2 decisive seventh-game triumph in their opening playoff round Tuesday night, the big search began for an emergency Cougar home.

Cougar president Walter Kaiser has contacted arenas through the area, including the Chicago Stadium rink of the Black Hawks from the rival National Hockey League, and Notre Dame's 4,500-seat Convocation Center.

The dates for three possible Cougar home appearances in the best of seven showdown with Toronto hinges on what arena can be booked and when.

The Cougars expect to move to a new 18,000-seat arena planned at suburban Rosemont within two years. It probably was a surprise.

Buckeyes Favored In Collegiate Golf

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — With 1973 champion Indiana not in the field, host Ohio State is favored to win the sixth annual Kepler Collegiate Golf Invitational Saturday and Sunday.

Seven Big Ten squads are in the 54-hole tournament that has attracted 18 schools. Rounds of 27 holes each are scheduled both days over the par-72, 6,800-yard Ohio State Scarlet course.

Yogi Berra holds the record for World Series played (12) and for series games played (63).

Dodgers Wallop Cincy Reds 14-1

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — The Los Angeles Dodgers stunned the Cincinnati Reds with a whopping 14-1 win Wednesday night to sweep their two-game series and continue to dominate the National League Western Division.

"I don't think they'd better get too gay," said Reds Manager George "Sparky" Anderson. "It's still early."

"I'm happy to win these two games and sneak out of town before those guys get hot," said Dodger first baseman Steve Garvey, who belted two home runs in the contest, collecting four runs batted in.

"The Western Division is like an old cowboy movie," Garvey said. "Someone will be waiting in the bushes to ambush us pretty soon. You can take your pick in this division who that someone will be. We've had as much trouble with San Diego as we have with Cincinnati."

Garvey hit his first homer in the seventh to make it a 3-1 ball game. Jim Wynn followed with a homer with two on to chase loser Roger Nelson.

"I think it came at a very good time," said Wynn, acquired from Houston. "It put the icing on the cake and made the pitcher (Doug Rau) and the team relax."

Dodger Manager Walter Alton remained low-keyed. "It's nice to get started well, but it doesn't prove anything. We still have to play 162 games," he said.

It was the fourth straight victory for the Dodgers who are 9-3 on the young season, leading the division by two games.

Rau, who previously pitched only one-third of an inning, was lifted for a pinch hitter in the eighth by Alton. "I didn't want to take the chance of hurting him," Alton said.

Rau gave up only three hits, one a home run to George Foster, his first of the season. Pete Rose singled in the first inning for his 17th hit in 11 games.

Los Angeles scored two runs in the third inning and four each in the seventh, eighth and ninth.

Plan Suit Against Segregation

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—The parents of eight Columbus school children plan to file a complaint against segregation in the city's education system, their attorneys said Wednesday.

On the advice of a federal judge, the families withdrew a request for an injunction against an $89.5 million building plan. Their original complaint said the plan would further racial separation.

School attorneys will not take action until the new complaint comes to trial, probably sometime in December, spokesmen said.

An Ohio State University education professor testified in the original hearing that the Columbus school system is "highly segregated."

Dr. Charles A. Glatt said he studied segregation in the schools for a period from 1969 to 1972.

The judge said a ban on school construction would put undue burdens on taxpayers who in 1972 approved the money for a five-year construction program.

Penalties Scheduled

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP) — The Mansfield City Council has set up misdemeanor penalties for an anti-noise ordinance setting sound limits for trucks, buses, cars and motorcycles.

Sponsor Robert Boling said the ordinance is for "the cowboys — the guys racing and revving up their engines on the streets."

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Don't Call — Get Help

DEAR ABBY: I have a problem which I have discussed with my married daughter, and she said I should write to you.

After many years of marriage, my husband has been seeing another woman. She's a young school teacher he met at church. (Her father is a minister.) The worst part of it is, I know he really loves her, but I'm afraid of what people would think if I let him go to her.

I admit that our marital relations have never been enjoyable for me, but I have done my duty and given him three children who are grown and married now.

I work full time, which my husband never liked, but it has provided us with lots of extras we wouldn't have been able to get as soon as we did.

Should I call this woman and tell her I know the truth and she'd better stop seeing my husband or else? Should I call her father and tell him about it? Or should I keep quiet and hope they get tired of each other before too many people know about it?

PUBLIC NOTICE

COMMON PLEAS COURT
PICKAWAY COUNTY, OHIO
No. 74-CI-69 - Franklin Savings Bank of New York, Plaintiff -vs- Hendrick R. Brons, et al., Defendants.

HENDRICK R. BRONS and MARY K. BRONS aka MARY KATHRYN BRONS, upon each of whom service of summons cannot be made, because each of their place of residence is unknown to the affiant and cannot with reasonable diligence be ascertained, are hereby notified that on February 25, 1974, Franklin Savings Bank of New York filed a complaint as Plaintiff in the Common Pleas Court of Pickaway County, Ohio in Case No. 74-CI-69 against them as defendants, alleging that on or about November 3, 1972 the defendants, Hendrick R. Brons and Mary K. Brons aka Mary Kathryn Brons executed and delivered to American Fletcher Mortgage Company, Inc. their mortgage deed, thereby conveying the following described real estate:

Situated in the State of Ohio in the County of Pickaway, and in the City of Circleville and bounded and described as follows:
Being 30 feet off the west side of Inlet One Thousand Four Hundred Ninety-two (1492) of N. ABERNATHY'S SECOND ADDITION as the same is numbered and delineated upon the recorded plat thereof, of record in Plat Book 1, page 134, Recorder's Office, Pickaway County, Ohio; that said mortgage deed was thereafter assigned to the plaintiff; that said defendants have failed to pay said promissory note and interest in accordance with the terms thereof, and said mortgage deed is in default; therefore, plaintiff prays that it may have and recover judgment against the defendant, Hendrick R. Brons and Mary K. Brons aka Mary Kathryn Brons for $11,422.38 together with interest at 7 per cent per annum from August 1, 1973; that it may have and recover judgment for advances and expenses incurred in protecting and preserving the property; that said mortgage be foreclosed; that the above described real estate be sold; that the liens may be marshalled and the proceeds of sale be applied toward the payment of liens on said real estate in accordance with their priority; that the defendants, and each of them, be compelled to answer and set up any lien, interest, or claim they have in said premises or be forever barred from asserting the same, and that the plaintiff recover its costs, and have such other and further relief as may be just and equitable.

Hendrick R. Brons and Mary K. Brons aka Mary Kathryn Brons are further notified that they are required to answer said complaint by May 17, 1974 which includes 28 days from the last publication date or judgment may be rendered as prayed for therein.

SPENGLER, NATHANSON, HEYMAN, MC CARTHY & DUFFEE by Louis J. Hattner, Toledo, Ohio, Attorneys.
March 14, 21, 28, April 4, 11, 18, 1974

DEAR TROUBLED: Don't call the young woman. And don't call her father. You and your husband should get some counseling and level with each other.

If you don't let him go to her (knowing that he really loves her) because you are afraid of what people will think, that's a poor reason. Add that to your feeling that you've done your duty and given him three children, and the picture becomes even more clear. You seem to be a sensible woman. Counseling is the only answer.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have been arguing over a question that we would like you to answer.

I say it is bad manners to yawn in company, but if you can't help yourself you should do it with your mouth shut.

My husband says he only yawns when he can't hold it back, and he can't yawn with his mouth closed.

Please give us your opinion. Thanks.
MRS. B.

DEAR MRS.B.: Yawning with one's mouth closed isn't easy. However it can be done, but a squelched yawn offers very little satisfaction.

The ideal solution would be to go ahead and yawn, but cover your mouth with your hand. And apologize for it afterwards.

DEAR ABBY: In trying to decide what to give my son and his bride for a wedding gift, I have come to the conclusion that the best gift I could give them would be the treatment at a "stop smoking" clinic.

The treatment costs $350 per person, so I feel that it would be a generous gift, considering my relatively low income. My son has been warned by his doctor that he should stop smoking, and he has indicated that he would like to. However, there wouldn't be much point in giving him the treatment unless his bride takes it too.

Under the circumstances, would it be proper for me to offer such a gift or would I be considered meddlesome?

CONCERNED MOTHER
DEAR CONCERNED: I don't agree that there wouldn't be much point in giving your son the treatment unless his bride agreed to take it, too. However, unless you know for certain that they both want the treatment and would welcome it as a wedding gift from you, it might not be appreciated.

At each level of government, the girls will determine candidates and elect officials with the governor and other state officials elected on Tuesday afternoon.

Outstanding speakers which will be heard by the girls throughout the week will include Lt. Gov. John Brown, Gov. John J. Gilligan, and state treasurer Gertrude Donahey. On the last Saturday evening, Dr. Nicholas Nyaradi, Director of International Studies at Bradley University will be the guest speaker.

Building Fund Increased By Farm Sale

With the sale of the 155-acre Bowsher estate left to Berger Hospital in a will, the hospital building fund has been increased by approximately $144,000. The farm land brought $930 an acre at an auction on the courthouse steps last Saturday.

Denny Kitchen and Howard Koch, administrators for the estate of Laura D. Rush Bowsher had been instructed by the will to have the estate sold after the death of Edson Bowsher and the proceeds from the sale be given to Berger Hospital. Attorney Carl Leist was the legal representative for the transaction.

The farm was purchased by Charles Kreisel who owns the adjoining property also.

Hospital Administrator John Reid said the money would go directly into the building fund. He also said the building project referred to as Phase I was going along very well. Contracts for the construction are due to be signed by May 1 and the actual building can start any time thereafter.

Birth Defect Brings Boy $530,000

TORRANCE, Calif. (AP) — A jury has awarded $530,000 in damages to a 3-year-old boy after ruling that his birth deformities were caused by a fertility drug taken by his mother.

The drug, Clomid, is produced by Richardson-Merrill, Inc., of Cincinnati, Ohio, and is marketed worldwide.

A company spokesman said he was "shocked and dismayed over the verdict" which he called "absolutely unwarranted." He said the company would appeal the decision.

The money was awarded Tuesday to Mark Breinhorst, son of Heinz and Ingrid Breinhorst of Torrance.

The parents, who had filed a $3 million suit, were awarded $40,000 by the jury. Their son was born with no hands, facial paralysis, knock knees and eye problems.

Breinhorst said the money would go into a special trust fund for his son, who attends a special school for crippled children.

The Breinhorst's attorney had argued that Clomid had not been tested properly although it did have the approval of the Food and Drug Administration.

Richardson-Merrill's attorney claimed during the month-long trial that the birth deformities had occurred naturally.

Mrs. Breinhorst said she took the drug in September, 1969. Her son was born in June, 1970.

Injunction Issued Over Poll Workers

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP) — The Richland County Common Pleas Court has issued a temporary injunction ordering the county board of elections to give jobs back to elderly poll workers.

Judge James J. Mayer issued the decision Wednesday in a class action suit brought against the county board of elections by 77 dismissed workers who were fired because they were 70 years of age or older.

Mayer set a final hearing in the suit for April 30. He is seeking opinions from Gov. John J. Gilligan and former Gov. James A. Rhodes on how the ruling would affect the state political process.

Bizarre Kidnap Comes To End

ELKINS, W.Va. (AP) — The house father at a Huntington children's home was arraigned Wednesday on charges stemming from the alleged kidnapping of three boys from the facility.

Roger Dale Blankenship was arraigned before U.S. Magistrate Leslie Lucas Jr. following his arrest Tuesday by state police and FBI special agent Philip Sheridan in a rural area near Franklin in Pendleton County.

The arrest ended a bizarre, seven-week search for the youths in which they enrolled in two schools in two different states.

Blankenship was charged with child abduction and unlawful flight and on two counts of kidnapping. Bond was set at $50,000 and was being held in Grafton.

An indictment returned April 14 in Clear Skies Favor U.S.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Fair skies stretched across most of the nation today, while a band of showers spotted areas from Texas into Wisconsin.

Scattered showers also sprinkled the Carolina coasts and southern Florida, with about a half inch reported at Fayetteville, N.C., before dawn.

Along the upper Pacific Coast, light rain fell and skies were increasingly cloudy.

Cooler air moved into the upper Great Lakes region, while temperatures in the eastern half of the country were generally below normal.

Freeze warnings were posted during the night for parts of West Virginia and light frost nipped spots as far south as northern Alabama.

West of the Mississippi, however, readings were near and above average for mid-April.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 76 at Key West, Fla., to 30 at Sawyer Air Force Base, Mich., and International Falls, Minn.

U.S. District Court in Bluefield charged that Blankenship kidnaped the youths from the Cammack Children's Home "for immoral and illegal purposes."

Two of the boys were found unharmed Tuesday and were taken back to the center. The third youth was discovered Friday in Cleveland.

According to police Blankenship left the center Feb. 27 with the three youths.

The 16-year-old was driven to a Greyhound bus station and got a ticket to Wheeling and then Cleveland where authorities found him, said Lt. Pete Bowen, commander of the juvenile unit of the Huntington Police Department.

Blankenship took the other two boys to a South Point, Ohio, motel and registered there as Roger Dale Sturgil, Bowen said. The boys told police they were under the assumption that he had adopted them, Bowen said.

The following day, according to Bowen, the three went in a car to Amelia, Ohio, where Blankenship rented a mobile home. The boys enrolled in a local school and attended classes two days before moving on.

Bowen said Blankenship left March 6, took the boys, drove across the Ohio river and into Pendleton County where he rented another house. Local neighbors gave them some old furniture, police said.

The boys told police that Blankenship got a job for $60 a week at a nearby farm and the three of them ate fresh deer meat provided by a hunter. After attending classes for one day, the youths did not return to a local school.

Authorities discovered Blankenship after a curious woman inquired why the boys failed to return to school, Bowen said.

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR FRIDAY
ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): Activities speed up now — especially in the early afternoon. Particularly favored: financial transactions, dealings in real estate.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): A new work assignment may seem difficult to carry out, but a comprehensive discussion with close associates will produce useful ideas, guidance.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): You usually like to solve your own problems but don't arbitrarily reject another's idea. It may be more practical than your own.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): A good day for launching constructive plans and projects; also for developing helpful contacts. Just one admonition, however: Don't let emotions influence your decisions.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): As the week draws to a close, prepare to revive depleted energies, dwindling resources. Rekindle an optimistic outlook toward the future.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Some intrigue likely in occupational circles. YOU remain discreet and keep involvement to a minimum.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Mixed influences. Your efforts may not show immediate returns. They will, however, strengthen your current position. Stress accuracy, precision.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 23): There may be more than one way to achieve your goal, so keep eyes and ears open. Generally speaking, the strong and decisive try will pay off.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): Extremes (a tendency now) could slow you down, make action less efficient. Set a tempo commensurate with day's actual needs. Project some new thinking into usual routine.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Mixed influences. Be prompt to reject unethical, or even slightly questionable schemes. Too much is at stake; too much can get out of hand.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Curb emotions and do not let sympathy for one cause blind you to the attributes of another. Take care of undertakings in order, but not feverishly.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Much competition in beneficial areas. This is the time to do your best. One admonition, however: Avoid those who would take advantage of your generosity in one way or another.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with a fine mind and your quest for knowledge is unceasing. You are imaginative, persevering and extremely ambitious; would make an outstanding salesman and can promote your wares in a way that makes them irresistible. In fact, your business acumen is one of your greatest assets and, whether you choose industry, commerce or an artistic profession as a career, you are bound to make it pay. You are inventive, too, especially in the field of gadgetry. Other areas suited to your talents: education, literature, the law and the stage. Traits to curb: impulsiveness, obstinacy, easy loss of temper. Birthdate of: Jayne Mansfield, film actress.

Eliot Feld Starts Ballet

NEW YORK (AP) — Choreographer Eliot Feld has announced the forming of a new ballet company, Eliot Feld Ballet, with its first season set for June at the Newman Theater in the Public Theater complex.

Feld formed a company in 1968, to dissolve it two and a half years and 10 ballets later, because of the lack of money. Since then, Feld has created two ballets for American Ballet Theater and one each for the Joffrey Ballet and Royal Danish Ballet. But he prefers working with his own company.

The new company starts with a $35,000 development grant from the Rockefeller Foundation. It is planned that there will be two weeks in June, three weeks in the fall and four weeks next spring at the 300-seat Newman Theater. The company will begin with from 12 to 14 dancers and music will be by small groups or on tape.

Critics regard Feld as America's foremost young choreographer.

Original Sin

SWANSEA, Wales (AP) — Barry Carr was overjoyed when he passed his driving test soon after his 17th birthday — the earliest age at which Britons are permitted to drive a car. But when his brand-new license arrived, it bore 12 endorsements for a whole array of driving offenses, plus a 28-day driving ban.

Police proved sympathetic when it was found a computer at the license office had run wild. "The system has not been operating for long," said an official there.

"No Dane lives more than 35 miles from the sea or, for that matter, more than 568 feet above it," noted William Graves in the National Geographic.

Dienst Memorial Set Saturday

GROVE CITY—Dienst Memorial Handicap Day at Beulah Park approaches its 35 renewal this year ranking as one of the most important racing events in Ohio thoroughbred history.

For the record the race has existed as the Robert J. Dienst Memorial Handicap since 1960, the year after the death of Beulah's chief executive for whom the race was named.

Previously the mile and a sixteenth fixture was called the Governor's Handicap and dated back to 1939 when Darby Dan Farm's Francesco set a track record of 1:44.3 in defeating Bob's Boys and taking away a winner's share of $1,925. Should this year's running have a full field in one division the winner's award will approach ten times that amount.

Since the name of the Grove City oval's biggest springtime attraction was changed three runners have managed repeat scores and this year that possibility is again a very real one with T. O. Campbell's Call Me Jodie. Of special interest in the 6-year-old gelding's quest for another Dienst victory is the fact that never has a horse won the race in consecutive years. Jadees pulled minor upsets in winning the 1961 and 1963 runnings of the distance feature, Deacon David's success in 1965 and 1967 were even bigger surprises, and 'Big Darby's wins in 1966 and 1970 register as the farthest apart.

Surprise will not be the essence of Call Me Jodie's efforts on Saturday. The lightly-raced son of Su Ka Wa—Hy-Timandra appeared on the workout tab at Keeneland in Lexington, Kentucky, on Monday of this week with a mile tuneup in 1:41.3. This fine workout coupled with a high quality second place finish in his most recent outing at the Bluegrass oval should incline the public to give the defending Dienst champion plenty of support.

For owner Campbell this year's Dienst could mean a third success, a feat which evades most seeking it. Campbell's green and white silks visited the winner's circle on Dienst Day, 1968, when his Cocktail Music scored an upset under 117 pounds, the same package Call Me Jodie will tote in this Saturday's effort.

The list of those looking to stop the Campbell star from accomplishing his ambitious goal reads like a who's who of mid-American racing, with handicap and allowance stars from Ohio, Kentucky, and Michigan lending plenty of class to the race already knee-deep in such tradition.

For those who consider money won as the criterion for support, a good case can be made for the chances of McGinnis, Victor, and Patrick's Bootlegger's Pet. The big-hearted bay has won ten races and over $100,000 in just over a year, while campaigning in Ohio, Kentucky, Illinois, Massachusetts, Louisiana, Arkansas, and Florida.

Trainer Charlie Patrick announced to all that would listen a year ago, that he would take his colt anywhere Secretariat wasn't and earn plenty of money. Patrick never veered from that schedule and showed that the tough little runner can sprint with the best and carry his speed over a route of ground, in other words, do it all.

Another speedster expected to ship from Keeneland for the Dienst 'Cap is Popular Demand, owned by Juliette Combs Trapp. Popular Demand has made his reputation primarily as a sprinter at racing centers throughout the east. Earlier this year, however, he tried a mile and a sixteenth in the Grantland Rice Handicap at Florida Downs and pulled down a second place finish, behind multiple stakes-winner, No No Billy. Trainer Dick Fischer, who has developed Kentucky Oaks winner, Silent Beauty, and the top sprinter, Marshua's Dancer, in recent years, appears unconcerned about the distance, finding the weight to be of more immediate importance.

The handsome son of Sensitivo—La Morlaye is expected to work out at Keeneland in midweek and his appearance in Central Ohio on the weekend will depend on the quality of that trial.

Of course there is a good chance that the Dienst Handicap will have to be split into two divisions, since, apparently, a large number of the twenty-eight nominees are still considering Saturday's test a go. Last year's Dienst was the first ever run in two divisions with Sire Woodley, now retired, sharing the headlines with Call Me Jodie.

Equally pegged as the high-weighted contenders for Saturday's feature are Cassidy & Oder's Big Spade and Zimmerman & Zweiser's Jesta Dream Away, each assigned 124 pound imposts. Both were winners in divisions of the Trial Handicap at Beulah last Saturday, with the former going a mile and seventy yards in 1:42, a second and three-fifths faster than the other section. Big Spade's six wins in eight 1974 tries will not be overlooked, although Bootlegger's Pet bested him in the Latonia Championship in March. Meanwhile, no one overlooks trainer Jim Morgan's charge, which won a division of the Ohio Championship Handicap last fall at Beulah and is seeking to become the first horse ever to win both Beulah main events.

In all the 1974 edition of the Dienst Memorial Handicap lives up to and may exceed expectations and hopes of local racegoers. With cooperation from the weatherman, records could again fall in all areas and Beulah Park's first $1,000,000 day could be the result.

ABA Drafts 2 From Wide Field

NEW YORK (AP) — The American Basketball Association, armed with nearly 200 draftees—including high school sensation Moses Malone and 50 from the rival National Basketball Association—today sets out in its quest to become what Commissioner Mike Storen calls "the best basketball league possible."

The ABA has amassed its formidable group of draftees over the last 15 months, with most of its selections being made Wednesday. They included the 50 from the NBA in an unprecedented and open declaration of warfare, 79 collegians and the brilliant Malone, who averaged 35.8 points and 25 rebounds during the 1973-74 season in leading Petersburg, Va., H.S. to its second straight state championship.

Twenty other college players were selected in a secret draft last month, and 43 others are holdovers from three separate drafts conducted last year, beginning in January, 1973.

Each group contains some highly intriguing prospects, and now the ABA will begin unloosening its purse strings in efforts to sign them.

Perhaps the most intriguing is Malone. The dynamic 6-foot-11, 210-pound teenager has been swamped with various collegiate offers. But when the Utah Stars surprisingly picked him Wednesday, it marked the first concrete move by the pros to lure him. Previously, the Virginia Squires had only talked to him.

Bob Kilbourne, Petersburg

High's athletic director, said he feels Malone should go to college first: "I can't predict what he will do, but I believe up to now his thoughts have been going to college."

Arnie Ferrin, the Stars' general manager, said that Larry Creger, the club's director of player personnel and assistant coach, would go to Virginia today and discuss the situation with Malone and his family.

"If we find out that his parents don't want him to turn pro yet," said Ferrin, "we won't pressure them."

The Stars, however, would lose the rights to Malone—under a new ABA rule—if they don't sign him by September — and he would become eligible for the draft again next year.

But that's not the case with such All-Americans as Bill Walton of UCLA, David Thompson of North Carolina State, Marvin Barnes of Providence and John Shumate of Notre Dame—all of whom were drafted as undergraduates last year, but have not yet signed.

The 6-11 Walton, a three-time All-American and two-time Player of the Year, still belongs to the San Diego Conquistadors. Thompson, this season's Player of the Year, is the property of the Memphis Tams. Barnes belongs to the Denver Rockets and Shumate to Virginia.

Stans Denies Secret Contribution Illegal

NEW YORK (AP) — Former Commerce secretary Maurice H. Stans says he had a mandate to keep secret financier Robert L. Vesco's $200,000 cash contribution to President Nixon's 1972 re-election campaign. He swears he was not covering up any misdeeds of his own, or anyone else.

Stans testified about a March 14, 1972, meeting of campaign officials, including four White House aides. He said it was decided not to follow the lead of Democratic presidential aspirant George McGovern, who voluntarily released names of campaign contributors.

"I took that as a mandate to me to do everything possible to insure the privacy of these contributors," Stans told a jury Wednesday at his federal conspiracy trial. He is a codefendant with John N. Mitchell, the former attorney general.

"That was behind the whole thing," the 66-year-old Stans said at another point. "Vesco made a contribution in private and privacy was his constitutional right under the law. I was doing my best to protect Robert Vesco and every other contributor up to April 7."

A new law effective April 7, 1972, mandated the reporting of all campaign contributions from that point on. Stans was still under direct examination when the trial recessed for the night. He will return to the stand when it resumes today.

Mitchell and Stans are accused of conspiring to obstruct justice for allegedly attempting to impede a Securities and Exchange Commission fraud investigation into Vesco's affairs, in exchange for the $200,000 secret contribution, and later lying about it to a grand jury.

One of the most potent government witnesses against Stans was G. Bradford Cook, general counsel and later chairman of the SEC. He admitted he lied under oath about Stans on five earlier occasions, but insisted his trial testimony was the truth.

In line with a key clause in the conspiracy count, Cook testified Stans got him to change a paragraph in a proposed SEC complaint about Vesco, to delete specific reference to the transfer of the $200,000 in cash that made up the contribution.

"I did not ask Brad Cook to delete anything on that occasion or any other occasion," said Stans. He said Cook told him he was having the paragraph reworked at his own instigation because it was too "sensational."

Glenn OKs Debate With Metzenbaum

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
U.S. Senate candidate John Glenn accepted his opponent's challenge Wednesday to public debates, but he promised U.S. Sen. Howard Metzenbaum, D-Ohio, he would press hard on the issue of "openness and candor" in financial disclosures.

In response, Metzenbaum, on the campaign trail in Canton, said he "is anxious to ask Col. Glenn a few questions about his finances, too."

Glenn said he would debate Metzenbaum April 25 on WEWS-TV in Cleveland, May 1 at the Cincinnati Communications Coalition and May 3 at the Cleveland City Club.

"I believe the public's right to see the candidates for the Democratic nomination discuss issues on the same platform should not be impaired any longer by Howard's refusal to make a complete financial disclosure," Glenn said.

Responded Metzenbaum: "I am pleased that John Glenn has partially capitulated on the issue of free and open debate. But he is still running away from making himself available in Columbus, Toledo and Dayton."

Glenn earlier had accepted a date to debate Metzenbaum in Cleveland, then changed his mind saying he would only participate in a debate if Metzenbaum disclosed his federal income tax returns for 1969-72.

Glenn said Wednesday the same provision goes for any debates other than the three he listed.

Both candidates disclosed their federal and state income tax returns for 1973, but Metzenbaum has refused to disclose prior income tax forms claiming they include information about private individuals who have not waived their rights to privacy.

Earlier in the year Metzenbaum released financial information which he said should clear up any questions about conflicts of interest.

Metzenbaum and Glenn both were scheduled to be in Cleveland tonight for fund-raising dinners.

In other Ohio politics, state Sen. Tony P. Hall, D-6 Dayton, candidate for secretary of state, blasted the Republican incumbent for a 24-year record of perpetuating "outdated election practices." Hall charged that Secretary of State Ted W. Brown "has consciously maintained practices which systematically deny the right to register and vote to thousands of Ohioans."

The unopposed Republican incumbent said his office for years has "been responsible for legislation that makes it easier to register and vote."

RCA Reports Sales Up, Profit Down

RCA sales in the first quarter of 1974 increased to $1.08 billion but earnings, influenced by an unfavorable economic environment, declined 17 per cent below the comparable 1973 period, Chairman Robert W. Sarnoff reported.

He said first quarter net profit was $34.8 million, equal to 45 cents a share. This compared with $41.7 million, or 54 cents a share a year ago. Sales were seven per cent above $1.01 billion in the first three months of 1973.

The RCA Chief Executive Officer said a combination of factors — increased labor costs, intensifying inflation, the energy shortfall, declining industrial production, critical materials scarcities — made the first quarter one of the most challenging in recent years.

Sarnoff said RCA felt the economic downturn primarily in the consumer areas of its diversified operations. Even though RCA increased its share of the domestic color television market, profits suffered as a result of a cost-price squeeze.

Tires, Rims Taken In Theft

City Police are investigating the theft of tires and rims from the Denise Stout residence, 137 Pleasant St., 10 p.m. Tuesday.

Mrs. Stout said her husband had the tires stored in the unlocked garage at the time of the theft.

The tires were estimated to be worth $60.

Patrolman Mike Eberhard investigated the theft.

Talking Trash Can Swallows Garbage Says 'Thank You'

BROOKVILLE, N.Y. (AP) — He talks, he sings, he makes slightly risqué suggestions and he swallows garbage.

He's Arthur, the talking trash can. His inventor thinks a kind word from Arthur encourages people to fill him with garbage rather than dump it where it doesn't belong.

Arthur is the brainchild of Charles Hamad, 24, of Danbury, Conn., a graduate student in psychology at C.W. Post College, and Dr. Jeff Corey, an associate psychology professor and Hamad's thesis adviser.

Arthur's voice is a tape cassette, activated when trash is stuffed into the 45-gallon can.

Arthur is a standard plastic trash can. There is a face painted on the lid, with blond hair, blue eyes and yellow teeth. The teeth surround a plastic mouth attached by a hinge, through which garbage is deposited.

When the mouth is pushed, the cassette is activated.

Hamad says he placed Arthur in a college dining hall for about four hours one day.

For the first hour, the cassette was turned off, and only 20 persons stuffed garbage in Arthur.

For the next three hours, the cassette was turned on and "a few hundred people" used Arthur, Hamad said.

But Hamad says Arthur has been used only for about 15 hours and more data is needed to confirm his theory that people are more likely to use trash cans if the can talks back, and to determine whether the novelty will wear off.

"Basically it's an example of behavior modification, it's merely a mild form of reward," Corey said.

Hamad says some students have had trouble coping with Arthur, the gabby garbage collector.

Hamad says some students have had trouble coping with Arthur, the gabby garbage collector.

"One person had keys in his hand and he thought it was a regular garbage can," Hamad said. "He was sort of taken aback by the response the can gave him. He dropped his keys in it and we had to take the whole thing apart to get his keys back."

Patty Hearst Bank Holdup Role Subject Of Dispute

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Was Patricia Hearst forced to take part in the Symbionese Liberation Army bank robbery?

Everyone from the U.S. attorney general to the governor of California seems to have a different opinion.

U.S. Atty. Gen. William Saxbe told a Washington news conference Wednesday he personally thought that Miss Hearst "was not a reluctant participant in this robbery."

He labeled the SLA a group of "common criminals" and said he included Miss Hearst "as part of them."

Miss Hearst was abducted Feb. 4. In the last communique from the SLA, which claimed it kidnapped her, Miss Hearst scorned her parents and said she had joined her captors.

The FBI has issued a warrant for Miss Hearst's arrest as a material witness to Monday's armed holdup at a Hibernia Bank branch, in which five bandits who identified themselves as members of the SLA stole $10,690. Two bystanders were shot during the getaway.

PAT HEARST?—A woman identified by FBI as Patricia Hearst carries a gun during a bank robbery in San Francisco.

Authorities said Miss Hearst was identified as one of the five from automatic photographs taken in the bank during the holdup.

Miss Hearst's father, newspaper executive Randolph A. Hearst, refused to comment on Saxbe's remarks, except to call them "speculation."

In Sacramento, Gov. Ronald Reagan said he believed Miss Hearst acted under duress — "There still is no conclusive proof that she was there or participating of her own free will."

U.S. Atty. James L. Browning Jr. said a federal grand jury is reviewing the evidence and might issue indictments by next week.

Edward Shea, 66, a guard at the bank, said the woman identified as Miss Hearst took an active role in the holdup, "giving orders and all that, saying she would shoot the first guy that moved."

"She wasn't scared. She let it be known that she meant business. She had a gun and looked ready to use it."

After studying the photographs, Miss Hearst's mother, Catherine, said she wasn't convinced her daughter was even a participant.

Egypt May Enter New Middle East Fighting

ISRAELI SHELLING—A Syrian Army ambulance, center, evacuates wounded from village in southern Syria during heavy Israeli shelling.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Israeli planes bombed and strafed Syrian positions on strategic Mt. Hermon again today, Egypt hinted it might join the battle, and another terrorist explosion erupted in a Tel Aviv suburb, injuring 13 persons, officials reported.

The Israeli planes scrambled following artillery barrages aimed at Israeli troops occupying the 9,232-foot mountaintop, often described as Israel's Middle East eyes, an Israeli spokesman said.

At the same time Syrian gunners also opened up on Israeli forces in the southern sector of the 300-square-mile Syrian enclave captured last October, the Israelis said. But the Syrians charged the Israelis with firing first.

It was the second straight day Israeli planes were called into action and the fourth time in a week.

Israel has held all high ground on Hermon since the October war. From the craggy windswept top viewers can see Damascus and beyond, the Israelis say.

In Cairo, War Minister Ahmed

Ismail said Egypt would fight alongside the Syrians if the situation on the Golan Heights became critical.

Ismail, who is commander in chief of the armies of both Syria and Egypt, said: "If the fighting became more serious or the situation became critical, no doubt we will take part."

In the Tel Aviv suburban village of Pardes Katz, an Israeli-made hand grenade exploded, wounding 12 Arabs and one Jew, the Israeli military command reported.

The blast came as Israel sirens sounded throughout the Jewish state marking the annual day of mourning for six million Jews slaughtered by the Nazis in World War II, and less than 24 hours after the body of a Jerusalem taxi driver was found wired to a booby trap.

Guerrilla sabotage bombs have been going off in Israel almost daily for the past few weeks.

The Israeli military command reported a one-hour air attack on the Mt. Hermon range Wednesday but gave no details. It said all the planes returned to their bases.

Bar Group Eyes Nixon And Mitchell

NEW YORK (AP) — The City Bar Association is probing allegations of professional misconduct against President Nixon and former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell.

The investigation could lead to their disbarment in New York state, according to John G. Bonomi, the association's chief counsel.

The probe is part of a nationwide investigation by bar associations into all lawyers allegedly linked to the Watergate case and related matters, Bonomi said.

Information for the probes has come from Special Watergate Prosecutor Leon Jaworski and the Senate Watergate committee, Bonomi said Wednesday in a telephone interview.

Also involved in the city probe are Gordon Strachan, a former aide to H.R. Haldeman, former White House chief of staff; David R. Young, former co-director of the White House "plumbers;" and an unidentified lawyer, Bonomi said. All are licensed to practice in New York.

John D. Ehrlichman, former presidential adviser; Herbert W. Kalmbach, Nixon's former personal attorney; and political saboteur Donald H. Segretti are the subjects of similar investigations in California where they are licensed to practice, he said.

Any disbarment proceedings against the President will be held up and will rest on the question of whether a President in office may be prosecuted in the courts or subpoenaed to appear before an investigating committee, excluding a congressional impeachment panel, Bonomi said.

Public Hearings Set On Hospital Lands

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Public hearings will be held in Cleveland and Garfield Heights to determine the future use of Cleveland State Hospital lands and buildings, Gov. John J. Gilligan said Wednesday.

Gilligan said a study by the state Department of Economic and Community Development suggested recreational use of the mental hospital, which is to be phased out by the end of April.

Nixon's situation was behind the Republican defeats there and elsewhere. But each of the districts involved went Republican by a landslide margin in 1972, before the scandals unfolded.

Together, the five elections point to a protest vote aimed at the Republican White House.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., who is running for re-election this year, said he was concerned about a backlash against all Republicans because of Watergate.

Vice President Gerald R. Ford said the trend in the special elections pointed to an overwhelming Democratic majority in the House next year. "One party control is not good for America," Ford said.

That, and the comments of other Republicans about the danger of

4 Dozen Solons On Junkets

WASHINGTON (AP) — While Congress is in recess, nearly four dozen senators and representatives are traveling overseas at taxpayer expense — "feeding at the trough" as one State Department official put it. Many are accompanied by their wives.

The legislators are members of delegations to international conferences in Romania, Malaysia, Korea and Taiwan.

Their itineraries also include stops in Paris, Athens, Istanbul, Singapore and Hong Kong. They travel in Air Force planes, and at each stop are eligible for $75 a day spending money.

On two of the trips, the congressional delegations will meet with legislators from other countries to "talk and pass resolutions on international topics of the day," said the State Department official who asked not to be named. A third group will look on as observers while outgoing Treasury Secretary George P. Shultz participates in the annual meeting of the Asian Development Bank in Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia.

On all three trips, some wives are going along "for protocol reasons," said an aide to Rep. Melvin Price, D-Ill. Price and his wife are part of a 50-person delegation headed by House Majority Leader Thomas P. "Tip" O'Neill, D-Mass., attending interparliamentary conferences in South Korea and Taiwan.

The State Department handles arrangements for most overseas trips but refers all queries concerning itineraries to Capitol Hill.

Asked why the State Department would not release unclassified information relating to travel at public expense, one department official explained that "their first allegiance is to the congressmen, and you don't want to be running around advertising that your principals are feeding at the trough."

Members of the O'Neill delegation are stopping off for two days in Hong Kong, with the option of a side trip to Saigon, on the way to South Korea and Taiwan. Rep. Morris K. Udall, D-Ariz., and his wife went along because "Mo thought it'd be a fun trip," an aide said.

The group of 19 senators and congressmen, plus wives and staff members, attending the annual meeting of the Interparliamentary Union in Bucharest, Romania, are going by way of Greece, Turkey and Bulgaria, a memo to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee says, and will fly to Paris for the weekend before returning home.

Members of the House and Senate Banking committees left Monday aboard the plane carrying Secretary Shultz and will spend time in the Philippines, Indonesia and Singapore before arriving in Kuala Lumpur next week for the two-day meeting of the Asian Development Bank.

The cost of the foreign travel will remain largely hidden from public view. Flights aboard Air Force planes disappear into the mammoth Pentagon budget while the State Department absorbs much of the cost incurred by various U.S. embassies charged with entertaining the visiting congressmen.

The $75 a day in expense money also is furnished by the State Department in the form of U.S. owned foreign currencies. Members are required to make public the amount of these so-called "counterpart funds" spent in each country, but records of past

WASHINGTON (AP) — The country's high inflation rate will replace the energy crisis as the number one challenge for William E. Simon, President Nixon's choice as his fourth secretary of the Treasury.

Nixon named the 46-year-old millionaire and former Wall Street investment banker to succeed economist George P. Shultz, who steps down in May after nearly two years at the Treasury Department helm.

Simon has served since December as head of the Federal Energy Office. The White House said he will be succeeded as energy administrator by his deputy, John C. Sawhill, 37.

Simon's appointment as Treasury secretary is expected to touch off a struggle among Nixon's economic advisers to gain a portion of the considerable influence over economic policy-making held by Shultz.

Nixon said he would take a more active hand himself in economic planning and will head the important Council on Economic Policy, a post previously held by Shultz.

Other positions held by Shultz that will not go to Simon include assistant to the President for domestic and international economic policy, which will remain unfilled for the time being, and chairman of the Cost of Living Council, a position of declining influence that will be filled on an interim basis by council director John T. Dunlop.

Sources say that Simon will face a difficult challenge in the international policy-making arena from Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger, who Monday showed his interest in this field in an important statement on U.S. foreign economic policy delivered to the United Nations in New York.

But Simon is said by aides to feel the major problem facing him as Treasury secretary will be the country's worsening inflation rate, which saw consumer prices rise 8.8 per cent last year, and at a 12 per cent rate during the first two months of this year.

Simon is said to generally support the approach to inflation followed by Shultz, including steps to increase agricultural supplies combined with conservative spending and money supply policies.

Like Shultz, Simon is cool to economic controls.

Simon likely will give additional details on his thinking on ways of combating inflation when he appears before the Senate Finance Committee for confirmation hearings, expected early next week.

Demo Election Wins To Shape Strategies

WASHINGTON (AP) — And now Bob Traxler takes his place beside John P. Murtha, Richard VanderVeen, Thomas Luken and Robert Lagomarsino.

Their collective clout in Washington doesn't add up to much. They are, after all, the most junior members of the House of Representatives.

But the way they got there will be a significant factor in shaping campaign strategy in both political parties for the congressional election season just ahead.

For they are the men who won the special House elections of 1974, all in what had been safely Republican districts. All but Californian Lagomarsino are Democrats.

"No Republican should assume he has a safe seat any more," said Sen. Robert P. Griffin of Michigan, the Senate GOP whip.

Democrat Traxler's victory in the Saginaw, Mich., area made it four out of five for Democrats — and while the White House said President Nixon was not disheartened, some Republicans who will be running in November obviously were.

"It appears some Democrats are riding the President's coattail to Washington," said Republican Gov. William G. Milliken of Michigan, where VanderVeen earlier captured another traditionally GOP House seat.

In each of the five special elections, the issues raised had included national and area economic problems, Watergate and the President himself.

Although Nixon spent a day campaigning for Traxler's Republican opponent, the White House maintained that the President had not become the big issue in Tuesday's election.

No one can prove or disprove that

Pledges Latin Trade

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has pledged efforts to lower U.S. trade barriers with Latin America and said he will encourage American private investment in the region.

Serving as host for 24 Latin American foreign ministers at a White House dinner Wednesday night, Nixon listed trade and private investment as two essential ingredients for overcoming Latin America's development problems.

On private investment, one of the most sensitive areas in inter-American relations, Nixon said, "we recognize that each government has the sovereign right to determine the rules for investors in its country, but we also believe that private investment is the richest potential source of technology, capital and organizational skills the developing world needs."

The ministers dined with Nixon after spending the afternoon in private, informal consultations with Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger. The meeting is a prelude to the annual meeting of the Organization of American States General Assembly, scheduled to begin Friday in Atlanta.

Diplomats reported the meetings with Kissinger, which wind up here today, were extremely cordial. According to U.S. officials, Kissinger suggested that Latin American grievances over U.S. private investment might be alleviated if the hemispheric nations established ground rules governing foreign investors.

One discordant note in the conversations was a unanimous expression of support by the Latin Americans for Panama's demand to gain control over the Panama Canal Zone.

But their apprehensions were directed mostly at a Senate resolution with 35 sponsors calling for "continued undiluted U.S. sovereignty and jurisdiction over the Canal Zone." U.S. officials said Kissinger pledged he will persist in efforts to draft a new treaty with Panama conferring eventual control over the zone to that country.

Steel Prices Likely To Rise

WASHINGTON (AP) — Director John T. Dunlop of the Cost of Living Council says an estimated 13.6 per cent increase in costs for the nation's steel firms will result in sharply rising steel prices.

"We expect prices to increase substantially," Dunlop told a news conference Wednesday.

Steel companies will be free to raise prices without government interference when wage and price controls expire April 30.

"We think there will be rather substantial inflationary pressures in the economy growing out of steel prices," Dunlop said.

He noted that the pending price increases would be on top of the 9.2 per cent hikes already allowed the steel industry during the Phase 4 controls program.

The 13.6 per cent increase in costs projected by the steel companies would be for the period from Jan. 31 to July 31, according to Dunlop.

He said the cost pressures do not take into account new labor agreements reached in the steel industry last week, which observers say could add another 5 per cent to industry costs.

Higher steel prices force prices up for just about any product made of steel, including autos and home appliances.

Sterilization Lawsuit Filed

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A 36-year-old divorcee on public assistance has charged welfare officials in neighboring Armstrong County with illegally ordering her sterilization.

The suit, filed in federal court recently on behalf of Norma Jean Serena, is seen by her attorney as an unprecedented challenge of welfare department decisions involving the child protection system.

The complaint seeks in excess of $10,000 for compensatory damages for Mrs. Serena and in excess of $10,000 for punitive damages.

Mrs. Serena claims that two days after giving birth to her fifth child at Citizens General Hospital in New Kensington, in August 1970, she was sterilized without her consent or knowledge.

U.N. Seeks To Help Poor Nations

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Delegates to the special United Nations General Assembly have assigned top priority to measures aimed at helping the poorest countries stave off economic risk.

But they can't agree on where the money for the immediate special measures is coming from.

The "working party" of the Assembly's special economic session decided Wednesday night that various proposals for easing the present hardships of needy countries should be taken up ahead of longer-range matters.

Chairman Eustace Seignoret of Trinidad-Tobago asked for specific proposals in writing for the discussion starting today, midpoint of the special session.

A cabinet minister from Sri Lanka told the assembly that fuel, food and fertilizer price rises have brought "some developing countries...including my own...to the brink of a disaster."

It is a disaster "which could not merely imperil economic development programs but which could even threaten the very foundations of their social and political order... Some measures of urgent and immediate relief must be found while the ultimate solution is being sought," said Felix Dias Bandaranaike, the Asian island nation's minister of public administration, local government, home affairs and justice.

Bandaranaike said his country must pay 300 per cent more than it did in 1973 for oil, 162 per cent more for fertilizer and 170 per cent more for rice and flour.

Proposals have been submitted or are expected from Iran, France, Japan, Romania, Zaire, West Germany, Ivory Coast, Argentina, Algeria, the United States and Italy.

But there is a basic conflict over the main source of new funds to feed and fuel the approximately 30 poorest countries hit hardest by rising oil and fertilizer prices. Their added costs through the end of 1975 have been estimated at from $9.5 billion to $12 billion.

The industrialized countries are asking the oil exporting nations to contribute generously of their new wealth. Major Middle East oil nations have replied at the assembly that prime responsibility rests with the advanced nations.

A-C Board Offers 34 Contracts

Thirty-four teacher contracts were offered by the Amanda-Clearcreek Board of Education Monday night. The board also granted a leave of absence to Linda Bayliss for the 1974-75 school year so that she may work toward an advanced degree.

Applicants for the football coaching positions will be interviewed by appointment beginning 9 a.m. Saturday. A special meeting of the board will be at 1 p.m. that day to discuss the applications.

School entrance immunization requirements pursuant to the provisions of Section 3313.671 of the Ohio Revised Code were adopted.

The board expressed its appreciation to James Flanagan for assuming duties of athletic director for the remainder of the current school year. The Amanda sixth grade was also commended for its successful paper drive and the Stoutsville students were complimented on the collection of $161.10 for the Zenia area residents following the tornado.

A letter was read to the board from Mrs. Diane Eversole, elementary consultant, in appreciation to the home economics girls, Principal Gahn and the entire district for the opportunities afforded for the Title I in-service day.

Arrangements were approved for the alumni banquet to be served by Mrs. Florence Spangler assisted by Mary Louise Denney and Mae Shupe.

In final action, the board passed a resolution to participate in the Vocational Home Economics Child Development Program with a 50 per cent reimbursement. An advance draw was also approved and will be applied for in the amount of $28,000 general fund and $33,230 bond fund.

Robert Turner was present at the meeting to discuss the Citizens Committee for the Bond Issue. All the board members were present plus district superintendent W. A. Smith and building principals.

4 Sought In Escape Attempt

NEW YORK (AP) — Police today were seeking two men and two women who tried to cut through a steel partition to help three alleged Black Liberation Army members escape from prison. Their plot failed, however, when their acetylene torch ran out of fuel.

Police said the four went into a visiting area of the Manhattan House of Detention Wednesday night and attempted to free Albert Washington, 31, and Francisco Torres, 24, both now being tried in the murders of two New York City policemen, and Henry Brown, 25. Brown was acquitted in a separate cop-killing case but is being held for trial on charges of robbing a Brooklyn bank.

The four, who were said to have been armed with three handguns, used an acetylene torch to cut a quarter-inch steel partition separating them from the three prisoners in the visiting area.

While they were trying to execute their plan, they handcuffed two prison guards and locked them in booths normally used by visitors to talk by telephone with prisoners, Corrections Commissioner Benjamin Malcolm said.

Last December, four alleged sympathizers of the Black Liberation Army were arrested after they were discovered in a utility tunnel under a street outside the jail, also known as the Tombs.

next 12 to 18 months will be toward energy conservation.

Sawhill promised when his appointment was announced to send the President a plan by Nov. 1, to make the nation self-sufficient in energy.

But in an interview before the announcement Sawhill said it would take several years at least to achieve any substantial increases in U.S. domestic oil and gas production.

In the meantime, he said, the nation's imports of petroleum will continue to increase — making it even more vulnerable to sudden interruptions of supply, such as the recent Arab oil embargo.

During the next few years, the only way to reduce the imports and the threat is to reduce U.S. petroleum demand, he said.

"My approach would be to pursue very vigorous conservation."

Sawhill's attitude should be welcome to the administration's top environmental advisers, Environmental Protection Administrator Russell E. Train and Chairman Russell W. Peterson of the Council on Environmental Quality.

Train charged Monday that energy conservation was mostly just talk so far and said he saw no great push in that direction by the Federal Energy Office, which has authority over energy conservation programs.

Peterson is urging a national goal of reducing the growth rate of energy consumption from its recent 4 or 5 per cent a year to 1.8 per cent.

Sawhill talks in terms of a 3 per cent energy growth rate.

But rather than setting an arbitrary target Sawhill says "we've got to put in front of the American people some of the difficult choices we have to make."

"Let's say we can build another Alaska pipeline but there are environmental and resource costs; or we can drive in smaller cars and maybe save enough gasoline to make the pipeline unnecessary. We've got to make that kind of choice," Sawhill said.

The FEO plans to hold public hearings this summer on the issues involved in the drive for energy self-sufficiency.

Glenn-Metzenbaum Mud-Slinging Nears Wire

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — In this corner, a millionaire businessman already an interim senator. Across the way, an astronaut space hero.

At ringside, Ohioans watching an old fashioned mud-sling as candidates for the Democratic nomination for U.S. Senate verbally lash each other daily as the May 7 primary nears.

Candidate John Glenn, first American to orbit earth in 1962, chastises U.S. Sen. Howard Metzenbaum appointed to Congress late last year.

Metzenbaum, 56-year-old silver-haired executive, attacks Glenn, trim 52-year-old who jogs three miles most afternoons.

"We think he (Metzenbaum) has a lot to hide," Glenn tells laborers during a stop in Cincinnati.

Metzenbaum responds: Glenn's "dealing lightly with the truth."

"Honesty, integrity and sincerity" are key issues, Glenn explained to reporters early in his campaign.

"The people of Ohio have gotten only a campaign of personal vilification and distortions of fact from my opponent," Metzenbaum said a few days ago.

So it goes. The fight for the nomination has become one of the most hotly contested election races in years.

Glenn leads the polls, slightly. Metzenbaum, a former labor attorney, has captured the unions, or most of the unions. Glenn slowly erodes Metzenbaum's labor and state Democratic party endorsements, inching forward.

Glenn, shedding the "boy scout" image he acquired in a loss to Metzenbaum in 1970's primary, remains the aggressor.

He made a "full disclosure" of his financial status, including income tax returns back to 1965, and demands Metzenbaum do the same. Metzenbaum disclosed his holdings and net worth — $3.6 million, calling it "the fullest disclosure ever made by a U.S. Senator."

Glenn makes his opponent's refusal to display his past income tax returns the reason for turning down a recent proposal for a series of televised debates.

"If Howard Metzenbaum cannot trust the Democratic voters of Ohio with information about his taxes and finances, how can they trust him with their votes?" Glenn asked.

Metzenbaum released his 1973 tax return and countered with a charge that Glenn was "back peddling" and called on him to "get on with the important business of the campaign, a dialogue about who is better qualified to serve the people of Ohio."

Glenn and Metzenbaum have been political adversaries for years.

Glenn, who filed for the nomination in 1964 and dropped out after suffering a head injury in a bathroom fall, lost by 13,442 votes to Metzenbaum in the 1970 primary. Two lesser known candidates in the fourway race compiled 32,000 votes.

Metzenbaum later lost the 1970 general election to U.S. Sen. Robert Taft Jr., R-Ohio.

Late last year, Metzenbaum was chosen by Gov. John J. Gilligan, a Democrat, to serve out the term of William B. Saxbe, then Ohio's senior senator and now attorney general.

Gilligan acted after being urged by state and national labor leaders with whom Metzenbaum enjoys a long rapport. Gilligan later won Metzenbaum the backing of the state party organization.

Glenn turned down an offer from Gilligan to run for lieutenant governor on the governor's re-election ticket.

Ordinarily, a candidate with the backing of his party, the governor, organized labor, and plenty of money could rest at ease in an Ohio Democratic primary. But Metzenbaum has problems.

Just before he was sworn in last January, Metzenbaum revealed he deposited $118,000 with the Internal Revenue Service pending settlement of back income tax issues. Glenn has sought to make that, along with the payment of no income tax by Metzenbaum in 1969, gut issues in the primary.

The senator was rankled by Glenn's comment and expressed confidence the money will be returned after the IRS completes its investigation. "Mud slinging," Metzenbaum said, and repeated his invitation "for the colonel to join me on the high level to bring the real issues before the people."

Another time, Metzenbaum was furious when an aide in Glenn's headquarters reportedly told a newsman that the senator's home was built with non-union labor. "A vicious lie," Metzenbaum countered.

Metzenbaum's campaign director, James J. Schiller, asserted the statement was aimed "at the senator's overwhelming support among the working people of this state."

"But it is doomed to fail. It is an unmitigated lie," Schiller said.

Glenn said Metzenbaum's claim of overwhelming labor support is invalid. Glenn predicts he will have the support of rank-and-file union workers when the polls open.

Metzenbaum has the endorsement of the Ohio AFL-CIO and the United Auto Workers.

Yet, Glenn cites big labor support of his own: 2,500 service employees in Youngstown, teamsters in Dayton, steelworkers in Mansfield and the Paper Workers Union of Ohio. He has picked up endorsements of county Democratic organizations, defecting from state headquarters.

Glenn's greatest county endorsement victory was Franklin County, the state capital which voted for Metzenbaum in 1970.

Metzenbaum, with union help and other major contributors, is expected to match the $800,000 he spent in the 1970 primary, much going to television. Glenn's press secretary estimates the Glenn camp will spend half that.

A Page Of Opinion

Diabolic Intrusion

Many government officials regard efficiency as a one-way street. They are horrified by the mere suggestion their own bailiwicks might need streamlining or perhaps should be eliminated.

But let anything — including a system of checks and balances — stand in the way of their professional ambitions and they love to fall back on the cause of efficiency to justify removal of the obstacle.

An example is the periodically resurrected proposal to establish a central "data bank" in the federal government. This would consist of a computerized depository of information about each citizen.

The purpose, presumably, would be to collect information now on file in hundreds of government offices. This could include everything from medical records to grades earned in school from the earliest years through college — and much more.

Credit rating, income, employment and practically any other aspect of his life of each American would be on file for federal officials, and possibly state and local counterparts as well, to use at will.

Such a Big Brother concept is dangerous to individual liberties. Computers are not fit guardians of personal histories because they lack judgment in at least two important respects: they divulge their data to anyone able to push the correct button, and they lack the human quality of being able to evaluate the information they contain.

Individual personality traits, interests, ambitions, desires and talents change over the years, but these changes escape the coldly accumulated and perpetually stored data in a computer. Efficiency in this case would be bought at a high cost to individual privacy.

This scheme must be knocked in the head by Congress every time it reappears.

Sage Words On Taxes

ON THE LINE
By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK — Manu, an Indian sage, had a word about taxes that applies to these days of weeping and gnashing of teeth.

"To make the burden of taxes equal is not effected by a mere numerical proportion," he taught. "The man who is taxed to the amount of one-tenth of an income of 100 rupees a year, is taxed far more severely than the man who is taxed an equal proportion of an income of 1,000 rupees, and to a prodigious bigness more severely than the man who is taxed an equal proportion of 10,000 rupees a year."

Reads like another knock on Nixon, but Manu saged more than a thousand years before Christ.

most familiar editorial cartoon characters: the pathetic man who, stripped of his clothes, is forced to wear a barrel. Ancient and modern uses of the pen berated taxes:

Plato, discoursing on tyrants, observed, "Has he (the tyrant) not also another object which is that they (the people) may be impoverished by payment of taxes, and thus compelled to devote themselves to their daily wants and therefore less likely to conspire against him?"

Thomas Pain mourned, "War involves in its progress such a train of unforeseen and unsupported circumstances that no human wisdom can calculate the end. It has but one thine certain, and that is to increase taxes."

William Graham Sumner (1840-1910), who may have been never plagiarized by Franklin D. Roosevelt: "The Forgotten Man . . . delving away in patient industry, supporting his family, paying his taxes, casting his vote, supporting the church and the school . . . but he is the only one for whom there is no provision in the great scramble and the big divide. The Forgotten Man. He works, he votes, generally he prays — but his chief business in life is to pay."

The taxpayer is a kind of slob, thought Israel Zangwill (1864-1926): "The average taxpayer is no more capable of a 'grand passion' than of a 'grand opera.'"

Nonsense. There was more passion than ever, this time.

I still like Hal Boyle's plea of "temporary insanity" before his tax board. And Bugs Baer's letter in response to a sharp note from the tax collectors. He addressed it to the Bureau of Internal Revenue. The letter started "Dear Slur: Yours of the 17th inst. received and dully noted."

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor:

April is Cancer Month. In Pickaway County, we are having our 1974 door-to-door Cancer Crusade the week of April 21.

We will have about 1,000 volunteers covering the entire county. We hope everyone will be looking for them and give generously to conquer this dreaded disease in our lifetime. If we happen to miss anyone in our campaign, we hope they will send their contribution to The Cancer Society, 140 W. Mill Street, Circleville.

Sincerely,
STEVE STEVENSON
1974 Cancer Crusade
Chairman

Dear Editor:

I am concerned about the existing conditions in our Westfall School District, and bringing an end to the "split school sessions." I feel a tremendous amount of pride for our schools, and feel our children deserve the best. We are going into overtime on May 7th, to pick up the 55 points that defeated the vote in the November election.

In answer to many questions raised, I list the following approximate figures:

1. The tax valuation for the Westfall District is $32,700,000.00.
2. The legally-imposed bonding capacity is 9 per cent or $2,943,000.00.
3. The remaining amount due on the High School building is $760,000.00.
4. This leaves a balance of $2,183,000.00 that could be bonded (explaining the possibility of building an elementary, Jr. high complex, which is estimated to cost $4,500,000).

5. The cost to build our new Middle School at this time is $1,670,000.00, an increase of $70,000 over last November's figures, an increase that could have been avoided, if 55 affirmative voters would have made the effort to vote.

We must continue to build and improve our school buildings by stages, just as we have done in the past. Your present school board has a lot of pride for each individual school, as evidenced by the improvements to our existing buildings over the past four years. They cannot be held accountable for past negligence. These buildings will last for several years and our children will get the necessary education, if we overcome the crowded conditions that do exist.

Isn't it time to stop running our buses from 6 a.m. to 6 p.m.? I don't believe you want to see this "split session school" continue indefinitely, and YOU, a registered voter, can do something about it. I have a tremendous amount of enthusiasm for successful passage of the Middle School Bond Issue on May 7th. Won't you help make this enthusiasm contagious over the Westfall District? It could be the nicest thing you do in '74.

2 Arrested In Slaying Of Ohio Girl

DECATUR, Ind. (AP)—Two young Decatur men were arrested today in connection with the weekend slaying of a Van Wert, Ohio, teen-ager, Cheryl Ann Felger.

Authorities said Ernest R. Tope, 21, and Timothy A. Heckert, 20, were being held without bond in the Adams County Jail here on preliminary charges of assault and battery with intent to commit a felony.

Miss Felger, 19, a Wright State University student, disappeared about 9 p.m. Friday after she left her home on her bicycle. Her body was discovered Saturday near an abandoned barn along an Adams County road. About 80 stab wounds were found in her partially clothed body.

Police said evidence indicated she had put up a struggle with her abductors.

"We feel she was abducted, and we don't think they (her abductors) knew her," Adams County Sheriff Harold August said.

The question of whether she may have left voluntarily came up when her bike was found standing upright against a telephone pole close to her home. Later investigation disclosed the bicycle had been found lying in the middle of the road by a woman motorist who stopped her car and moved the bike.

A grand jury was expected to be convened this weekend to hear the case.

Strictly by hunch, Deputy Sheriff Carl White located a missing Circleville Oil Company safe submerged under a bridge on Island Road. All that was recovered from the undetermined amount of money and checks in the safe was $43.79, a few charge bills and two cents still wedged in the safe.

Municipal Court Judge Sterling Lamb made it clear that he did not approve of the way any of the principals acted in a case that developed during two motorists were accused of passing a school bus in late February. The drivers received suspended fines and the bus driver was reprimanded.

City police disclosed that an overnight visitor in the jail took his wrath out on the windows, breaking six of them.

The Capital University president declared in a Circleville Rotary Club luncheon talk that high school students during the past ten years have become more serious about a college education.

Responding to a call that had to be hurried to meet a rigid deadline, nearly 1,000 residents of Circleville and Pickaway County went on record against any move to admit the Chinese Communists to the United Nations.

Circleville's "Kid Baseball" program, a community venture so successful in its debut the year before, moved into its spring training stage with prospects of an even greater season ahead. The program went county-wide this year.

Safety Inspections Uncover Violations

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. John J. Gilligan says an intensive safety inspection program has uncovered 14,882 violations in eight months in business and industry.

The governor said Wednesday more than 2,000 inspections yielded an average of 6.2 violations per inspection. He said more than $175,000 in penalties have been collected.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

I have a hole in the septum of my nose. My nose becomes crusty and dried and I can barely get any breath through it. Can anything be done about it?

Mr. T.I. Vt.

Dear Mr. I.: The nasal septum is the wall that separates one side of the nose from the other. The front part of it is composed of cartilage; the back is a thin bone.

A hole, or perforation, through the septum may be the result of surgery, injury as a result of chronic nose picking, or exposure to chemical fumes.

Young people who have been sniffing cocaine are now sadly paying this additional penalty for their ill-advised habit.

Surgery for the repair of the septum has been tried. Unfortunately, the results are not always gratifying. The perforation may return, and get even larger.

Continued lubrication with simple mineral oil softens the crust and makes the condition more bearable. Steam inhalations may be soothing. There are also a number of excellent techniques that can be used by the ear, nose and throat specialist. This should make you more comfortable.

My 14-year-old daughter has a trichomonas of the vagina. Isn't this most unusual in a young unmarried child?

Mrs. M.D.V. S.C.

Dear Mrs. V.: Trichomonas vaginalis is a common infection that is more annoying than serious. It occurs far more often in adults than in children. Yet children can become infected with the protozoan organism; trichomonas vaginalis.

It sometimes spreads through camps and schools when rigid rules of cleanliness are not observed. Frequent bathing and individual towels can prevent its spread.

There now are a number of excellent drugs which can control this condition.

Only recently, greater attention has been paid to the fact that husbands may harbor the protozoa on their skin, and thus continue to re-infect their wives.

This should be considered in cases of adult infection.

Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Two of the giants of U.S. industrial life are showing their bruises from the energy controversy and are fighting their critics with unusually blunt accusations.

Says General Electric: "Appliances are not wasteful users of energy as the public has been led to believe." That belief, claim GE executives, is the result of "misinformation . . . and downright bad advice." General Motors' outrage is directed at what it feels are smears contained in a booklet distributed by a Senate sub-committee alleging, among other things, that GM destroyed thriving street railway systems.

"General Motors did not destroy street railway systems," the company said in a 67-page reply. "They failed everywhere because they were no longer able to give adequate service."

It adds that the publication, distributed by the Senate sub-committee on Antitrust and Monopoly, "is replete with additional false and deceptive statements."

Neither company is likely to change attitudes immediately, but their claims seem to open a phase of the energy controversy in which opposing views might be better analyzed and the objective truth distilled from them.

One of the popular assumptions about the shortage is that the proliferation of electric appliances, such as toothbrushes and self-cleaning ovens and the like are among the chief culprits.

But, says GE, a self-cleaning oven uses only slightly more electricity than a conventional oven.

A statement released here in March said:

"It is essential to recognize that the 300 million major appliances presently in use consume a small fraction of our total energy. Only about 5 per cent of the total energy supply is being used in the home . . ."

GM's anger was made known to the subcommittee in the form of a request to suspend distribution of what it terms a false, misleading document. If that document is distributed again, it asked that GM's position accompany it.

The chief causes for GM's anger were assertions that:

—GM aided the Nazis during World War II through its subsidiary, the Adam Opel Co., After the German invasion of Poland, GM claims, it had little effective control of Opel decisions.

—GM helped suppress rail transportation.

—GM helped destroy more than 100 surface rail systems, its motive being to promote the sale of its gasoline-using products.

The company's response was delivered to the subcommittee last week. A company spokesman said discussions were continuing with the subcommittee but that, so far as he could learn, no decision on GM's request has been received.

Lima State Case Reviews Said Needed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Lima State Hospital patients under observation after criminal offenses must have periodic reviews of their cases, the Ohio Supreme Court has ruled.

In a case involving a Cincinnati man, the court said Wednesday that patients may be held for a "reasonable amount of time," then some disposition must be made of their cases.

The court said if it has been determined that a person cannot be restored to reason, he must be given full consideration for commitment to a mental hospital.

The ruling was in a suit filed by Robert L. Burton, who was charged in Hamilton County Common Pleas Court Aug. 2, 1962, with passing bad checks.

Burton was found mentally unable to stand trial and sent to Lima "until restored to reason."

Nine years later, Burton filed an appeal in Allen County asking to be released from Lima State.

The court ruled Burton still was not capable of standing trial and referred the case to the Allen County Probate Court.

The probate court, finding it "unlikely" Burton would ever be able to stand trial, ordered that he be committed to the Dayton Mental Health Center.

Under Ohio law, persons convicted of sex offenses or other crimes, or thought to be mentally incompetent, may be sent to Lima State for observation before sentencing.

Committee To Back State Issue No. 2

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Newspaper publisher and former state Rep. E. W. Lampson has announced the organization of a committee to back Issue 2 on the May ballot.

Lampson said the objective of Issue 2 is "to remove an inequitable requirement that the auditor and one commissioner of each county wait two years longer than all other county officials to receive cost of living adjustments."

The Jefferson Gazette publisher said the issue does not provide for salary increases, raising taxes or enabling county officials to vote themselves pay raises.

1900-1905 Ladies Society Minutes Read To Circle

Martha Circle of Community United Methodist Church met Monday evening in the church parlor with 16 members present. Miss Marie Hamilton read scripture from Deuteronomy, chapter 31:1-6 and Chronicles, chapter 15:7, and the poem "Where Can We Find Him?" by Helen Steiner Rice.

For the program, Miss Hamilton selected minutes from The Ladies Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church for January 1900 through December 1905.

On Sept. 20, 1900 the society met at the church. Discussed were wards holding socials in turn and plans made for wards 2 and 5 to have a social at the church on Oct. 5. It was reported $1.33 in the treasury with bills unpaid in the amounts of $5.88 for wallpaper, Finkle-Schleyer and Henderson $39.17 with a total indebtedness of $44.55. The social cleared $13.41. At the October meeting plans were made for raising more money with a New England Dinner.

Members decided that after payment of debts money should be used for furnishing and finishing the parsonage. Due to housecleaning time the dinner was abandoned for the present.

The November meeting was held in the home of Mrs. Lehman. Plans were made and carried out to serve a 25 cent supper from which they cleared $21.98.

In January new officers were elected and committees named with the most time spent discussing finances. At the March meeting tickets were distributed for lectures in April. "A Trip Around The World" was discussed at length. Plans were made for a tour of homes in horse drawn carriages.

At the January meeting of the following year officers were elected.

Plans were made for a Measuring Supper with the price determined by the height of the person at a penny an inch.

In March the balance in the treasury was $55. In April arrangements were made to perform "Aunt Hannah's Quilting Party" and to sponsor a progressive lunch. In August a lawn fete was planned. In October they held a Halloween Supper to make money for needed repairs at the parsonage.

In January of 1903 kitchen repairs were completed and inside water connected. There was a called meeting in May with the treasurer reporting the balance of $83.13 in the treasury and plans were made to have gas installed in the kitchen. In September it was learned that $26.35 had been cleared on the Lawn Fete and the treasury balance was $185.88.

At the Nov. 19, 1903, meeting the treasurer reported that proceeds from an Oyster Supper was $85.47 making a total on hand of $219.85. The president talked about the necessity of fixing up the kitchen.

In December the women had collected the amount of $24.45 and from the men $7.45. The president presented a bid of $10. from McMullins and Son for a small sink and $12. for a large one. A new stove was to be purchased from W. B. Haswell.

In January of 1904 the usual business once more concerned repairs and bringing the kitchen up to date. Plans were made for a Martha Washington supper followed with entertainment. Twenty-two ladies gathered to cut out and gild 250 souvenir hatchets on which the menu was then printed.

Following the program Mrs. Twyla Leist, chairman, said the circle was responsible for setting the tables for the May 1 Festival in the church and the June Breakfast planned for 9 a.m. on June 5.

Family Dinner

Pork chops and rice, tossed green salad, fruit, beverage.

Pork Chops
And Rice

6 thin rib pork chops, about 1½ pounds

2 tablespoons shortening
16-ounce can tomatoes
10½-ounce can condensed cream of celery soup

1 cup long-grain rice
½ cup finely chopped onion
1 teaspoon dry basil
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup diced cheddar cheese
¼ cup minced parsley

Cut away most of fat from around chops. In a large skillet with an oven-proof handle or a shallow range-top oven utensil, heat shortening; add chops and brown rapidly on both sides. Remove chops and pour off fat in skillet. Into the skillet turn the undrained tomatoes and break up into small pieces; stir in the undiluted soup and remaining ingredients except cheese and parsley; bring to a boil. Place chops on top. Cover tightly (with foil if necessary) and bake in a preheated 350-degree oven until meat is tender and rice cooked — 45 minutes. Remove chops; with a fork stir cheese and parsley into rice; replace chops and serve at once. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

'Scoop' Jackson Enjoys Home Life

WASHINGTON (AP) — Capitol Hill duties and an avowed interest in considering another bid for the Democratic presidential nomination mean these are busy days for Sen. Henry M. Jackson.

But the four term senator from Washington State tries to find as much time as he can to be with his wife and two young children.

Youthful looking at 61, Jackson as chairman of the Senate Interior Committee has been a key figure in congressional efforts to deal with the energy crisis.

He is also chairman of the Permanent Investigations Subcommittee and a senior member of the Armed Services Committee. An advocate of a strong military posture, Jackson has been an outspoken champion of Israel and a critic of U.S. Soviet detente.

Jackson first came to the Capitol after being elected to the House at age 28. Initially elected senator in 1952, he was re-elected in 1970 with more than 80 per cent of the vote.

Outside his home state, Jackson's major political strength is among leaders of organized labor and party officials in the South and West.

Jackson got the second most votes at the 1972 Democratic National Convention. Though he intends to delay any formal decision for at least a year, he makes no bones about his interest in another presidential race.

After getting up early, the senator shaves, gives his son Peter, 8 a good brushing up, then he's downstairs for breakfast—plus a good morning kiss from his 11-year-old daughter, Anna Marie.

Jackson shares a moment with his wife, the former Helen Hardin, whom he married in 1961 after long years of bachelorhood. He manages to do a bit of tinkering with his 1961 automobile. Then he's off to his Capitol Hill office.

Sneek-A-Peek

AT BOOKS IN THE CHILDREN'S LIBRARY

There are worlds to explore in fantasy and true adventure for children in the middle grades. In "Freckle Juice" by Judy Blyme we meet Andrew who is just old enough to want what other kids have and too innocent to know he's being tricked. The strange concoction he is forced to drink to have as many freckles as Sharon could bring an attack of gastritis to anyone. Or, it could magically bring freckles!

New adventures about the secret seven are awaiting mystery lovers. In "The Secret Seven and the Case of the Missing Medals," the club generously tries to help an old gentleman recover his lost medals. It could be the work of a gang of boys known to be troublemakers or a young man entirely too helpful. So the club braves the dark of night to solve the mystery. In their "Bonfire Adventure" they face robbers right in their grandmother's kitchen. And, in "The Case of the Stolen Car" they are actually hidden passengers in their own car while it is being stolen!

Most ghosts clank about in castles, right? Certainly they have no business on McBroom's farm where barbed wire and a keen-nosed pup are to be reckoned with. But something lurks about in "McBroom's Ghost" by Sid Fleischman and the goings on are scary and fun.

For a visual delight share "Cars" with your boys. It's a pictorial encyclopedia in bright color. The history of such famous cars as the "Bug" are retold, along with cutaway diagrams of its structure. And the section on record-breaking racers and dragsters takes cars into the 70's. Drawings of all cars from family types to sports cars are included.

"The Big Book of Helicopters" answers a demand for more action books for boys. It includes a simple lesson on how they work complete with many easy to follow diagrams. And it is interesting to note their varied use including surveying in mountainous areas.

An "Album of Dinosaurs" is a new publication under the direction of the Field Museum of Natural History. These oversize monsters with 2 ounce brains in 2 ton bodies are among the most popular books in the children's room.

"The Rock-Hound's Book" by Seymour Simon is another new book. In addition to the color pictures of the common minerals, beginners can proceed to set up a collection with this "how to" book. It tells how to identify rocks and, very importantly, where to look. Consideration for private property and the environment are mentioned.

To delight any young boy, Scott

Ehrlichman Said Believing Nixon Not Effective

LOS ANGELES (AP) — John D. Ehrlichman's friends in Seattle say he privately has expressed disappointment with President Nixon and thinks Nixon's effectiveness is at an end, the Los Angeles Times said today.

The report also said friends — interviewed on the understanding their names would be concealed — had said Ehrlichman was convinced that an 18-minute segment of taped conversation between Nixon and former White House chief of staff H.R. Haldeman had been erased deliberately.

The report said Ehrlichman had been shocked to learn of the existence of the tapes in Nixon's office, and held it against Haldeman for not telling him.

Ehrlichman himself declined to be interviewed or comment on the friends' paraphrased remarks, the Times said in its dispatch from Seattle.

Problems Surface In U.N. Assembly

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Confrontations are surfacing on all sides at the United Nations General Assembly special session on economics.

Conflicts between rich nations and poor, between oil producers and oil consumers, between socialist and capitalist countries, and between China and the Soviet Union have emerged in the last two days of debate.

Three major Arab oil countries, Kuwait, Iraq and Saudi Arabia, demanded Tuesday that the industrialized countries bear major responsibility for easing the economic hardship caused among the needy nations by the oil countries' hike in their prices.

"The greater part of it should be borne by the advanced industrial countries," Oil Minister Ahmed Zaki Yamani of Saudi Arabia told the assembly Tuesday.

He said his government gave more than $2 billion in foreign aid in 1973, and this made it the world's largest donor relative to national income and output.

Foreign Minster Sabah al Ahmad al

Jaber al Sabah of Kuwait told the session the advanced countries "have a historic responsibility because they are primarily responsible for the backwardness and privation which are the lot of the underdeveloped countries."

He said Kuwait is spending 7 to 8 per cent of its gross national product on foreign assistance while the contribution of industrialized countries dropped in 1972 from .42 of one per cent to .34.

China accused the Soviet Union of trying to sabotage the assembly proceedings by an "irrelevant" proposal to link economic development to EastWest detente.

U.S. Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger on Monday urged against confrontations and appealed to the oil rich countries to use some of their profits to aid needy nations.

"I think most of the developing countries took the view that there was an implied threat in what he said," Nigeria's foreign minister, Okoi Arikpo, told reporters.

Set Strike At Ohio U For Monday

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — Members of the Student Workers Union have voted to begin a campus-wide strike Monday.

The strike vote came Wednesday night after some 50 student employees ended a one-day walkout at Nelson Commons cafeteria.

Union organizer Mark Stachwell of Columbus said the campus-wide strike "will continue until the university administration recognizes the SWU as a bargaining agent for all student workers or agrees to bargain in good faith."

The union claims to represent 240 of what it says is a total of 1,200 student employees on campus.

The university says there are 2,500 student employees on campus, but the union says it does not include students involved in federally-sponsored work-study programs and those who work less than nine hours a week.

The union claims that 86 per cent of the student employees at the cafeteria stayed off the job, although the cafeteria remained open and most non-student workers reportedly crossed the picket line.

9-Day Strike Against Kroger Comes To End

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Local 390 of the Retail, Wholesale and Department Store Workers Union ended a nine-day strike against the Kroger Co. Wednesday night by narrowly ratifying a three-year contract, 248-240.

All 60 Cincinnati supermarkets remained open during the walkout. A Kroger candy plant remains struck by the production, shipping, sanitation and others union.

The pact means a $1.58-an-hour raise over the three years. Base salary for six-year employees is now $4.20.

The union also won the right to respect the picket lines of other unions after 48 hours. The old contract said five days, officials said.

Office Space Costs Rise For State

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The State Office Tower across from the capitol will rent for about $8.5 million the first year, but the state faces sharply increased costs after July 1, 1975.

The Ohio Building Authority (OBA) the project financier, set initial rents for some 30 state agencies scheduled to occupy the tower.

OBA agreed that through July 1, 1975, the Gilligan administration will pay $8.12 a square foot. That would amount to about $8.5 million a year when the tower's 1,048,000 square feet of net rentable space is fully occupied next fall.

But, the three-member OBA board began last week to consider ways of refinancing the $60 million tower project in order to prevent rents from climbing rapidly to $9 or $10 a square foot.

OBA is financing the 41-story state tower through the State Insurance Fund, investment monies of the Ohio Bureau of Workmen's Compensation, with interest rates being recomputed every two years.

OBA originally agreed to pay the fund interest of less than 5 per cent. Last week it found itself approving a new, one-year, $76 million note at 8.6 per cent.

An administration analysis said an 8.6 per cent interest charge would force OBA to charge its state tenants about $8.75 a square foot in order to retire the debt in 30 years, $9.60 to retire the debt in 20 years.

Gilligan estimated an $8 a square foot rental cost in his 1973-1975 budget, but state officials only a month ago talked about $8.50 a square foot.

John B. Olsen, director of the Office of Budget and Management, called the $8.12 compromise a "conservative and solid figure." He said the administration couldn't afford more.

The administration tries to keep its agencies from renting space from private landlords at much more than $5 a square foot.

Still, the $8.12 beginning rate will cover only interest payments to the Insurance Fund and maintenance costs, Olsen said.

It probably will be insufficient to allow OBA to begin repayments on the debt principle, he said.

John Kessler, OBA chairman, said Insurance Fund interest rates meant the OBA must consider lower-cost financing.

Accident Prevention Lapse Under Attack

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — An eye safety expert has charged that no qualified safety officials are guiding accident prevention programs in the nation's schools.

James O'Neil of the Society for the Prevention of Blindness told the All-Ohio Safety Congress Wednesday every state and county department of education should be required to hire qualified safety specialists similar to those hired by major corporations.

Wheat Exports Below Prediction

WASHINGTON (AP) — Only a few months ago Agriculture Department figures showed wheat exports might shoot over 1.3 billion bushels this fiscal year and leave the U.S. bread grain reserve at practically zero by mid-summer.

But now some in the trade think shipments will have to pick up sharply in the next two months if wheat exports are to match the USDA's prediction of 1.2 billion bushels.

George S. Shanklin, one of the department's export watchers in the Foreign Agricultural Service, said Wednesday "we have no reason right now" to reduce the 1973-74 wheat export estimate below the 1.2 billion bushels projected earlier.

The possibility that wheat exports might drop significantly was raised by reports showing clearances from U.S. ports last week totaled around 8.5 million bushels. That was the lowest one-week export total in about two years, Shanklin said.

Wheat shipments from U.S. ports had averaged about 18 million bushels per week since Jan. 1. During peak activity last year they rose to more than 32 million bushels per week.

The low mark for wheat exports last week raised doubts among some grain traders that shipments would pick up enough from now on to boost the total for the year ending June 30 to the department's estimate of 1.2 billion.

Reports filed by exporters showed that nearly 932.8 million bushels of wheat had been shipped as of March 31 for the fiscal year which began last July 1. Wheat remaining for delivery

Money Available

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — John W. Cashman, director of the Ohio Department of Health, said Wednesday $134,477 has been made available to help restore sanitary conditions in tornado-ravaged Xenia.

to known destinations this fiscal year totaled 221.5 million, unknown destinations added another 58.1 million.

Thus, counting wheat already shipped and the total exporters said remained for delivery, the gross wheat exports by June 30 could total slightly more than 1.2 billion bushels.

Shanklin said the arrival of spring shipping from Great Lakes ports is expected to stimulate wheat exports from now on. Thus, he said, the 1.2 billion bushels estimated still appears a sound figure.

Assuming that, the wheat reserve on July 1 would be 180 million bushels, far below the 483 million bushels of last summer and the stockpile of 863 million on July 1, 1972.

Farmers will begin harvesting 1974-crop wheat in southern areas by late May, with the new crop developing for market in Kansas in early June.

Cubs Blast Pirates; Win 18-9

By BRUCE LOWITT
AP Sports Writer

They call Chicago the Windy City—and the hurricane the Pittsburgh Pirates ran into was stirred up by the Cubs' George Mitterwald.

He hit three home runs Wednesday, one of them a grand-slammer, and drove in eight runs as Chicago's Cubs blew out the Bucs 18-9.

"I heard about this wind in Wrigley Field, but I didn't know it could be so beautiful," said Mitterwald, who came to Chicago in an off-season deal with the Minnesota Twins.

In Wednesday's other National League games, Montreal whipped the New York Mets 7-4, Philadelphia beat St. Louis 12-5, Los Angeles crushed Cincinnati 14-1 Houston downed San Francisco 3-2 and San Diego defeated Atlanta 6-1.

Mitterwald hit his basesloaded bomb in the first inning, smacked a homer with two men on in the third and socked one with the bases empty in the sixth.

In the eighth, Mitterwald doubled and, when got back to the dugout, the rest of the Cubs zinged him for not hitting a fourth homer.

"If I'd hit a fourth one, I would have fainted," he grinned.

He also got a run batted in with a bases-loaded walk in the fourth inning. "I wanted to try for another homer, but when the count went to 3-0, I was given the take sign," Mitterwald said. "So I got a walk and still produced a run."

Rick Monday, Jerry Morales and Bill Madlock also homered for the Cubs, whose first 10 runs came off Pittsburgh starter Jerry Reuss. Willie Stargell, Richie Hebner and Richie Zisk homered for the Pirates.

Expos 7, Mets 4

"I was kind of excited about getting my first major league homer here," said Barry Foote—and so were the rest of the Expos. It came at the most convenient time, leading off the bottom of the seventh inning, breaking a tie and propelling Montreal past the staggering Mets, who have now lost six straight games.

Bob Bailey also homered and Tim Foli drove in three runs for the Expos. Steve Rogers went the route, giving up six hits. Two of them accounted for all the Mets' runs, a pair of homers by Dave Schneck.

Phils 12, Cards 5

Mike Anderson had four hits and Bill Robinson three in Philadelphia's throttling of St. Louis, the Phillies' sixth straight victory, their best winning streak in four years.

"This is great," said Anderson, who enjoyed his first 4-for-4 game in the majors. "Everybody's sharing the load. With a man in scoring position, if you don't do the job the next guy will."

"The competition makes us all pull a little harder," Robinson agreed.

Dodgers 14, Reds 1

"Cincinnati is the team to beat," said Jimmy Wynn—and he had a hand in the beating administered by the Dodgers. He swatted his sixth homer of the young season, a three-run shot. But he was just one of many heroes. Steve Garvey slugged two homers, Dave Lopes hit a two-run double and Ron Cey had a two-run single.

Astros 3, Giants 2

Ollie Brown's walk, a wild pitch by San Francisco's John D'Acquisto and Dave Kingman's wild throw on Bob Watson's sacrifice bunt gave the Astros the winning run in the seventh inning.

"I wanted to make him field it," Watson said of Kingman, "That was the idea. I think it's the first time I ever bunted against the club."

Padres 6, Braves 1

John Grubb and Fred Kendall each drilled two-run singles in the third inning and Dave Winfield homered in the fifth to lead San Diego past Atlanta.

Jim McAndrew withstood 10 hits by the Braves, four of them by Ralph Garr. "He hit everything I threw up there," said the Padres' pitcher. "Fastball, curveball, forkball...I threw everything at him but the telephone book."

In Wednesday's American League games Milwaukee beat Cleveland 5-4 in 16 innings, Boston edged the New York Yankees 4-3, Baltimore blitzed Detroit 6-1, Texas trimmed Kansas City 4-2, California defeated Minnesota 5-3 and Chicago beat Oakland 5-3.

Spires Paces CHS Golfers

Jeff Spires mastered the Chillicothe Veterans Administration Hospital Golf Course Wednesday firing a three under par 33 to pace Circleville to a tri-match victory.

The Tigers low total of 156 was seven strokes better than Unioto's 163 and 53 strokes better than Huntington's 209.

Spires carded six pars and three birds in his round. Terry Spellacy carded a 40, Jeff Bohenko a 41, Jim England 42 and Mark McFadden 42.

For Unioto M. Haltz shot 38, J. Brock 37, G. Taylor 42 and B. Barnett 46.

For Circleville Randy Thomas doubled and drove in one run. Biff Bumgarner singled in another run and Pat McNaughton singled in both seventh inning runs.

Brewers Edge Tribe 5-4

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

After 15 innings of Gaylord Perry, the Milwaukee Brewers were happy to see someone else. They saw Ken Sanders—but they didn't see him very long.

With Cleveland's ace out of the game at last, Bob Coluccio immediately seized advantage of the situation and hit a home run that carried the Brewers to a 16-inning, 5-4 victory Wednesday night.

"Perry had a good fastball and slider and an awful lot of guts," said Coluccio. "That was the best I've seen him. When a guy 35-years-old throws that kind of stuff for 15 innings, that's super."

Although pitching almost two complete games, Perry didn't want out. "I wanted to stay in," said the Indians' star. "I could have gone more."

Elsewhere in the American League, the Boston Red Sox nipped the New York Yankees 4-3; the Baltimore Orioles beat the Detroit Tigers 6-1; the Texas Rangers defeated the Kansas City Royals 4-2; the Chicago White Sox turned back the Oakland A's 5-3 and the California Angels trimmed the Minnesota Twins 5-3.

National League scores: Montreal 7, New York 4; Chicago 18, Pittsburgh 9; San Diego 6, Atlanta 1; Philadelphia 12, St. Louis 5; Los Angeles 14, Cincinnati 1 and Houston 3, San Francisco 2.

Coluccio not only delivered the game-winning hit on a 3-1 pitch leading off the 16th inning, he also broke up Perry's no-hit bid earlier.

Perry had held the Brewers hitless until Coluccio, singled sharply to right with two out in the sixth.

Despite the sour luck, Perry was pretty content with his night's work. "I was mixing a fastball and a hard slider," he said. "The hard slider was rising and the fastball was sinking."

Red Sox 4, Yankees 3

Bernie Carbo and Bob Montgomery drove in eighth-inning runs, lifting Boston over New York. Pat Dobson of the Yankees fell apart after pitching no-hit baseball for six innings.

Dobson lost his no-hit bid and shutout when Carl Yastrzemski hit a home run in the seventh inning, when the Red Sox tied the game 2-2.

"I was throwing fastballs inside to the left-handed hitters all day," said Dobson. "Yastrzemski hit a high fastball that I got too far over the plate. I wouldn't have thrown that pitch with a man on base."

Orioles 6, Tigers 1

Baltimore jumped on Woodie Fryman for five runs in the first inning and Jim Palmer fired a five-hitter to lead the Orioles to victory over Detroit.

Fryman, 0-2, walked Bobby Grich and balked him to second to begin the outburst. Designated hitter Tommy Davis followed with a run-scoring single, then rookie Jim Fuller smashed a two-run homer, his first of the season.

Bill Slayback replaced Fryman and was greeted by a single by Mark Belanger, who drove in the fifth Baltimore run.

Rangers 4, Royals 2

Jeff Burroughs' tie-breaking double in a three-run eighth inning carried Texas over Kansas City.

Pinch-hitter Lenny Randle led off the eighth with a single and reached third when pitcher Gene Garber fielded Dave Nelson's bunt and threw the ball wild past first base.

Toby Harrah singled to tie the game and, after Alex Johnson bounced into a double play, Burroughs doubled to center field.

White Sox 5, A's 3

Brian Downing's two-run homer capped a three-run, eighth inning for Chicago that carried the White Sox past Oakland.

Angels 5, Twins 3

Bob Oliver hit two home runs, then shortstop Sergio Ferrer's error gave California the tie-breaking run in a two-run seventh that carried the Angels over Minnesota.

Muirfield Course Wins Golfers OK

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — After personal inspections of Jack Nicklaus' newest golf course, Joe Dey and Deane Beman are dumping superlatives on Muirfield Village.

Their reactions strengthen speculation that Muirfield Village, a 6,983-yard course six weeks away from opening, will become part of the 1975 Professional Golfers Association tour.

If a tour tournament comes to Muirfield and Columbus next year, it would give Ohio four stops on the 1975 PGA national circuit.

Stars Defeat Pacers; Win Tilt 99-90

By FRED ROTHENBERG
AP Sports Writer
Winners don't want to arouse losers, and losers don't want to sound like losers.
That's why the talk coming out of the Utah and Indiana locker rooms Wednesday night sounded the same.
"We still have a big problem just getting out of this series and getting into the league championships," said Utah center Zelmo Beaty—one of the winners—after the Stars' 99-90 victory had given them a dominant 3-0 lead over the Pacers in their best of seven American Basketball Association semifinal playoff series. "Indiana's not out until the buzzer sounds in the final game."
"It's hard to be optimistic when you don't win 3-0," said Indiana Coach Bobby Leonard—one of the losers—"but it's not over yet. You're not out until you lose four."
In the other ABA semifinal series, the New York Nets clipped the Kentucky Colonels 89-87 and also took a 3-0 lead in their best-of-seven series.
There was no Wednesday action in the National Basketball Association playoffs. Tonight, the Milwaukee Bucks, up 1-0, meet the Bulls in Chicago. The Boston Celtics, holding a 2-0 lead host the New York Knicks Friday night.

Chicago's Cougars Homeless

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Cougars can't say there's no place like home.
They simply don't have one for their World Hockey Association semifinal playoffs with the Toronto Toros.
The Cougars can't play in the International Amphitheatre because the arena was stripped of ice-making machinery to set up a road show production of Peter Pan extending through April 28.
A Cougar spokesman said that when Peter Pan was booked at the Amphitheatre, "we weren't aware the contract called for the ice, refrigerating pipes and whole bit, to go out."
As a result, after the Cougars stunned the New England Whalers with a 3-2 decisive seventh-game triumph in their opening playoff round Tuesday night, the big search began for an emergency Cougar home.
Cougar president Walter Kaiser has contacted arenas through the area, including the Chicago Stadium rink of the Black Hawks from the rival National Hockey League, and Notre Dame's 4,500-seat Convocation Center.
The dates for three possible Cougar home appearances in the best of seven showdown with Toronto hinges on what arena can be booked and when.
The Cougars expect to move to a new 18,000-seat arena planned at suburban Rosemont within two years. It probably was a surprise.

Buckeyes Favored In Collegiate Golf

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — With 1973 champion Indiana not in the field, host Ohio State is favored to win the sixth annual Kepler Collegiate Golf Invitational Saturday and Sunday.
Seven Big Ten squads are in the 54-hole tournament that has attracted 18 schools. Rounds of 27 holes each are scheduled both days over the par-72, 6,800-yard Ohio State Scarlet course.
Yogi Berra holds the record for World Series played (12) and for series games played (63).

Dodgers Wallop Cincy Reds 14-1

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — The Los Angeles Dodgers stunned the Cincinnati Reds with a whopping 14-1 win Wednesday night to sweep their two-game series and continue to dominate the National League Western Division.
"I don't think they'd better get too gay," said Reds Manager George "Sparky" Anderson. "It's still early."
"I'm happy to win these two games and sneak out of town before those guys get hot," said Dodger first baseman Steve Garvey, who belted two home runs in the contest, collecting four runs batted in.
"The Western Division is like an old cowboy movie," Garvey said. "Someone will be waiting in the bushes to ambush us pretty soon. You can take your pick in this division who that someone will be. We've had as much trouble with San Diego as we have with Cincinnati."

Garvey hit his first homer in the seventh to make it a 3-1 ball game. Jim Wynn followed with a homer with two on to chase loser Roger Nelson.
"I think it came at a very good time," said Wynn, acquired from Houston. "It put the icing on the cake and made the pitcher (Doug Rau) and the team relax."
Dodger Manager Walter Alston remained low-keyed. "It's nice to get started well, but it doesn't prove anything. We still have to play 162 games," he said.
It was the fourth straight victory for the Dodgers who are 9-3 on the young season, leading the division by two games.

Rau, who previously pitched only one-third of an inning, was lifted for a pinch hitter in the eighth by Alston. "I didn't want to take the chance of hurting him," Alston said.
Rau gave up only three hits, one a home run to George Foster, his first of the season. Pete Rose singled in the first inning for his 17th hit in 11 games.
Los Angeles scored two runs in the third inning and four each in the seventh, eighth and ninth.
Johnny Bench, who went hitless in three attempts, suggested Phil

Gagliano hit for him in the last inning. Bench has a bad cold, said Anderson.

Plan Suit Against Segregation

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—The parents of eight Columbus school children plan to file a complaint against segregation in the city's education system, their attorneys said Wednesday.
On the advice of a federal judge, the families withdrew a request for an injunction against an $89.5 million building plan. Their original complaint said the plan would further racial separation.
School attorneys will not take action until the new complaint comes to trial, probably sometime in December, spokesmen said.
An Ohio State University education professor testified in the original hearing that the Columbus school system is "highly segregated."

Dr. Charles A. Glatt said he studied segregation in the schools for a period from 1969 to 1972.
The judge said a ban on school construction would put undue burdens on taxpayers who in 1972 approved the money for a five-year construction program.

Penalties Scheduled

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP) — The Mansfield City Council has set up misdemeanor penalties for an antinoise ordinance setting sound limits for trucks, buses, cars and motorcycles.
Sponsor Robert Boling said the ordinance is for "the cowboys — the guys racing and revving up their engines on the streets."

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Don't Call — Get Help

DEAR ABBY: I have a problem which I have discussed with my married daughter, and she said I should write to you.

After many years of marriage, my husband has been seeing another woman. She's a young school teacher he met at church. (Her father is a minister.) The worst part of it is, I know he really loves her, but I'm afraid of what people would think if I let him go to her.

I admit that our marital relations have never been enjoyable for me, but I have done my duty and given him three children who are grown and married now.

I work full time, which my husband never liked, but it has provided us with lots of extras we wouldn't have been able to get as soon as we did.

Should I call this woman and tell her I know the truth and she'd better stop seeing my husband or else? Should I call her father and tell him about it? Or should I keep quiet and hope they get tired of each other before too many people know about it?

Buckeye Girls' State Delegates Selected

Selected to represent Logan Elm High School this year at Buckeye Girls' State are Pamela Martin and Deborah Wiseman. Alternates selected are Karen Ewing and Joyce LaFontaine. The girls are co-sponsored by Logan Elm and the American Legion Auxiliary Post 134.

This mythical state will open its 28th session on June 15 with approximately 1250 girls attending. The aim of Buckeye Girls' State is "to inculcate a sense of individual responsibility to community, state, and nation." With this objective, each girl is assigned to a party, Federalist or Nationalist, to one of 25 cities and to one of five counties.

At each level of government, the girls will determine candidates and elect officials with the governor and other state officials elected on Tuesday afternoon.

Outstanding speakers which will be heard by the girls throughout the week will include Lt. Gov. John Brown, Gov. John J. Gilligan, and state treasurer Gertrude Donahay. On the last Saturday evening, Dr. Nicholas Nyaradi, Director of International Studies at Bradley University will be the guest speaker.

Miss Martin is the 17-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Al Martin,

Building Fund Increased By Farm Sale

With the sale of the 155-acre Bowsher estate left to Berger Hospital in a will, the hospital building fund has been increased by approximately $144,000. The farm land brought $930 an acre at an auction on the courthouse steps last Saturday.

Denny Kitchen and Howard Koch, administrators for the estate of Laura D. Rush Bowsher had been instructed by the will to have the estate sold after the death of Edson Bowsher and the proceeds from the sale be given to Berger Hospital. Attorney Carl Leist was the legal representative for the transaction.

The farm was purchased by Charles Kreisel who owns the adjoining property also.

Hospital Administrator John Reid said the money would go directly into the building fund. He also said the building project referred to as Phase I was going along very well. Contracts for the construction are due to be signed by May 1 and the actual building can start any time thereafter.

Nixon Sees Nancy Kissinger Liberal

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's opinion of his secretary of state's new bride is that "she's a little liberal, but otherwise she's all right."

Nancy Kissinger got a presidential welcome Wednesday night during a White House dinner for Latin American foreign ministers.

Mrs. Kissinger was an assistant to former New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller before her marriage to Henry A. Kissinger.

Scenic Designation Set For State River

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Department of Natural Resources has announced the eighth Ohio river to be proposed for scenic designation.

The section of the upper Cuyahoga River is in Geauga and Portage counties and begins at River Park near Burton, ending downstream at the State Route 14 bridge crossing north of Lake Rockwell, the agency said Wednesday.

Birth Defect Brings Boy $530,000

TORRANCE, Calif. (AP) — A jury has awarded $530,000 in damages to a 3-year-old boy after ruling that his birth deformities were caused by a fertility drug taken by his mother.

The drug, Clomid, is produced by Richardson-Merrill, Inc., of Cincinnati, Ohio, and is marketed worldwide.

A company spokesman said he was "shocked and dismayed over the verdict" which he called "absolutely unwarranted." He said the company would appeal the decision.

The money was awarded Tuesday to Mark Breinhorst, son of Heinz and Ingrid Breinhorst of Torrance.

The parents, who had filed a $3 million suit, were awarded $40,000 by the jury. Their son was born with no hands, facial paralysis, knock knees and eye problems.

Brinhorst said the money would go into a special trust fund for his son, who attends a special school for crippled children.

The Breinhorst's attorney had argued that Clomid had not been tested properly although it did have the approval of the Food and Drug Administration.

Richardson-Merrill's attorney claimed during the month-long trial that the birth deformities had occurred naturally.

Mrs. Breinhorst said she took the drug in September, 1969. Her son was born in June, 1970.

Injunction Issued Over Poll Workers

MANFIELD, Ohio (AP) — The Richland County Common Pleas Court has issued a temporary injunction ordering the county board of elections to give jobs back to elderly poll workers.

Judge James J. Mayer issued the decision Wednesday in a class action suit brought against the county board of elections by 77 dismissed workers who were fired because they were 70 years of age or older.

Mayer set a final hearing in the suit for April 30. He is seeking opinions from Gov. John J. Gilligan and former Gov. James A. Rhodes on how the ruling would affect the state political process.

Bizarre Kidnap Comes To End

ELKINS, W.Va. (AP) — The house father at a Huntington children's home was arraigned Wednesday on charges stemming from the alleged kidnapping of three boys from the facility.

Roger Dale Blankenship was arraigned before U.S. Magistrate Leslie Lucas Jr. following his arrest Tuesday by state police and FBI special agent Philip Sheridan in a rural area near Franklin in Pendleton County.

The arrest ended a bizarre, seven-week search for the youths in which they enrolled in two schools in two different states.

Blankenship was charged with child abduction and unlawful flight and on two counts of kidnapping. Bond was set at $50,000 and was being held in Grafton.

An indictment returned April 14 in

Clear Skies Favor U.S.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Fair skies stretched across most of the nation today, while a band of showers spotted areas from Texas into Wisconsin.

Scattered showers also sprinkled the Carolina coasts and southern Florida, with about a half inch reported at Fayetteville, N.C., before dawn.

Along the upper Pacific Coast, light rain fell and skies were increasingly cloudy.

Cooler air moved into the upper Great Lakes region, while temperatures in the eastern half of the country were generally below normal. Freeze warnings were posted during the night for parts of West Virginia and light frost nipped spots as far south as northern Alabama.

West of the Mississippi, however, readings were near and above average for mid-April.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 76 at Key West, Fla., to 30 at Sawyer Air Force Base, Mich., and International Falls, Minn.

U.S. District Court in Bluefield charged that Blankenship kidnapped the youths from the Cammack Children's Home "for immoral and illegal purposes."

Two of the boys were found unharmed Tuesday and were taken back to the center. The third youth was discovered Friday in Cleveland.

According to police Blankenship left the center Feb. 27 with the three youths.

The 16-year-old was driven to a Greyhound bus station and got a ticket to Wheeling and then Cleveland where authorities found him, said Lt. Pete Bowen, commander of the juvenile unit of the Huntington Police Department.

Blankenship took the other two boys to a South Point, Ohio, motel and registered there as Roger Dale Sturgil, Bowen said. The boys told police they were under the assumption that he had adopted them, Bowen said.

The following day, according to Bowen, the three went in a car to Amelia, Ohio, where Blankenship rented a mobile home. The boys enrolled in a local school and attended classes two days before moving on.

Bowen said Blankenship left March 6, took the boys, drove across the Ohio river and into Pendleton County where he rented another house. Local neighbors gave them some old furniture, police said.

The boys told police that Blankenship got a job for $60 a week at a nearby farm and the three of them ate fresh deer meat provided by a hunter. After attending classes for one day, the youths did not return to a local school.

Authorities discovered Blankenship after a curious woman inquired why the boys failed to return to school, Bowen said.

Your Horoscope Television Schedule

By FRANCIS DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR FRIDAY
ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): Activities speed up now — especially in the early afternoon. Particularly favored: financial transactions, dealings in real estate.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): A new work assignment may seem difficult to carry out, but a comprehensive discussion with close associates will produce useful ideas, guidance.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): You usually like to solve your own problems but don't arbitrarily reject another's idea. It may be more practical than your own.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): A good day for launching constructive plans and projects; also for developing helpful contacts. Just one admonition, however: Don't let emotions influence your decisions.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): As the week draws to a close, prepare to revive depleted energies, dwindling resources. Rekindle an optimistic outlook toward the future.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Some intrigue likely in occupational circles. YOU remain discreet and keep involvement to a minimum.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Mixed influences. Your efforts may not show immediate returns. They will, however, strengthen your current position. Stress accuracy, precision.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 23): There may be more than one way to achieve your goal, so keep eyes and ears open. Generally speaking, the strong and decisive try will pay off.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): Extremes (a tendency now) could slow you down, make action less efficient. Set a tempo commensurate with day's actual needs. Project some new thinking into usual routine.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Mixed influences. Be prompt to reject unethical, or even slightly questionable schemes. Too much is at stake; too much can get out of hand.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Curb emotions and do not let sympathy for one cause blind you to the attributes of another. Take care of undertakings in order, but not feverishly.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Much competition in beneficial areas. This is the time to do your best. One admonition, however: Avoid those who would take advantage of your generosity in one way or another.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with a fine mind and your quest for knowledge is unceasing. You are imaginative, persevering and extremely ambitious; would make an outstanding salesman and can promote your wares in a way that makes them irresistible. In fact, your business acumen is one of your greatest assets and, whether you choose industry, commerce or an artistic profession as a career, you are bound to make it pay. You are inventive, too, especially in the field of gadgetry. Other areas suited to your talents: education, literature, the law and the stage. Traits to curb: impulsiveness, obstinacy, easy loss of temper. Birthdate of: Jayne Mansfield, film actress.

Eliot Feld Starts Ballet

NEW YORK (AP) — Choreographer Eliot Feld has announced the forming of a new ballet company, Eliot Feld Ballet, with its first season set for June at the Newman Theater in the Public Theater complex.

Feld formed a company in 1968, to dissolve it two and a half years and 10 ballets later, because of the lack of money. Since then, Feld has created two ballets for American Ballet Theater and one each for the Joffrey Ballet and Royal Danish Ballet. But he prefers working with his own company.

The new company starts with a $35,000 development grant from the Rockefeller Foundation. It is planned that there will be two weeks in June, three weeks in the fall and four weeks next spring at the 300-seat Newman Theater. The company will begin with from 12 to 14 dancers and music will be by small groups or on tape.

Critics regard Feld as America's foremost young choreographer.

Original Sin

SWANSEA, Wales (AP) — Barry Carr was overjoyed when he passed his driving test soon after his 17th birthday — the earliest age at which Britons are permitted to drive a car. But when his brand-new license arrived, it bore 12 endorsements for a whole array of driving offenses, plus a 28-day driving ban.

Police proved sympathetic when it was found a computer at the license office had run wild. "The system has not been operating for long," said an official there.

"No Dane lives more than 35 miles from the sea or, for that matter, more than 568 feet above it," noted William Graves in the National Geographic.

Views On Television

NEW YORK (AP) — Two weeks from today, CBS News will air a one-hour daytime news special for women. It bore 12 endorsements for a whole array of driving offenses, plus a 28-day driving ban.

The show is called "Magazine" and is hosted by correspondents Sylvia Chase and Charles Kuralt. Employing a format similar to CBS' "60 Minutes," it'll report on such diverse stories as hysterectomies, economical supermarket shopping and how soap operas are put together.

How did the show come about? Was it prompted by pressure from women's activist groups who feel daytime television should offer its predominantly female audience more than soap and games?

"No, I wouldn't think so," says Bill Leonard, a CBS News senior vice president. He said it basically stemmed from a suggestion made about 1½ years ago by CBS program chief Fred Silverman.

If the show gets the reaction CBS hopes it will, he said, it could become a weekly series in future years: "I would hope they (CBS brass) could make it that."

It isn't a low-budget effort, he said. Although he declined to say what the May 2 show is costing, he said the price tag was similar to that of a prime time documentary — in the $50,000 to $100,000 range.

The show will pre-empt two soap operas — "The Guiding Light" and "The Edge of Night." And Leonard expects gripes will come from devotees of those shows, as they usually do during such news pre-emptions.

But he's philosophical about it. "This is only an hour," he said with a laugh. "I guess we can live with a few phone calls."

Industry

Wastes Fuel

WAKE FOREST, N.C. (AP) — The amount of fuel used to produce compressed air that is wasted by industry would heat a community of some 200,000 persons for a year, according to a survey made here.

"About 10 per cent of the compressed air used by 1.2 million industrial and service establishments in the United States is being lost, according to our plant surveys," says Donald Sicklesteel, vice president of Scovill's Fluid Power Division, a maker of air control equipment. "This translates into annual preventable fuel wastage of about 100 million gallons of oil, or 600,000 tons of coal, or 15 billion cubic feet of natural gas. The dollar value is about $30 million."

The tallest geyser, the Waimangu geyser in New Zealand, erupted to more than 1,000 feet high in 1909, and has not been active since 1917.

Dienst Memorial Set SaturdayGROVE CITY—Dienst

Memorial Handicap Day at Beulah Park approaches its 35 renewal this year ranking as one of the most important racing events in Ohio thoroughbred history.

For the record the race has existed as the Robert J. Dienst Memorial Handicap since 1960, the year after the death of Beulah's chief executive for whom the race was named.

Previously the mile and a sixteenth fixture was called the Governor's Handicap and dated back to 1939 when Darby Dan Farm's Francesco set a track record of 1:44.3 in defeating Bob's Boys and taking away a winner's share of $1,925. Should this year's running have a full field in one division the winner's award will approach ten times that amount.

Since the name of the Grove City oval's biggest springtime attraction was changed three runners have managed repeat scores and this year that possibility is again a very real one with T. O. Campbell's Call Me Jodie. Of special interest in the 6-year-old gelding's quest for another Dienst victory is the fact that never has a horse won the race in consecutive years. Jades pulled minor upsets in winning the 1961 and 1963 runnings of the distance feature, Deacon David's success in 1965 and 1967 were even bigger surprises, and Big Darby's wins in 1966 and 1970 register as the farthest apart.

Surprise will not be the essence of Call Me Jodie's efforts on Saturday. The lightly-raced son of Su Ka Wa—Hy-Timandra appeared on the workout tab at Keeneland in Lexington, Kentucky, on Monday of this week with a mile tuneup in 1:41.3. This fine workout coupled with a high quality second place finish in his most recent outing at the Bluegrass oval should incline the public to give the defending Dienst champion plenty of support.

For owner Campbell this year's Dienst could mean a third success, a feat which evades most seeking it. Campbell's green and white silks visited the winner's circle on Dienst Day, 1968, when his Cocktail Music scored an upset under 117 pounds, the same package Call Me Jodie will tote in this Saturday's effort.

The list of those looking to stop the Campbell star from accomplishing his ambitious goal reads like a who's who of mid-American racing, with handicap and allowance stars from Ohio, Kentucky, and Michigan lending plenty of class to the race already knee-deep in such tradition.

For those who consider money won as the criterion for support, a good case can be made for the chances of McGinnis, Victor, and Patrick's Bootlegger's Pet. The big-hearted bay has won ten races and over $100,000 in just over a year, while campaigning in Ohio, Kentucky, Illinois, Massachusetts, Louisiana, Arkansas, and Florida.

Trainer Charlie Patrick announced to all that would listen a year ago, that he would take his colt anywhere Secretariat wasn't and earn plenty of money. Patrick never veered from that schedule and showed that the tough little runner can sprint with the best and carry his speed over a route of ground, in other words, do it all.

Another speedster expected to ship from Keeneland for the Dienst 'Cap is Popular Demand, owned by Juliette Combs Trapp. Popular Demand has made his reputation primarily as a sprinter at racing centers throughout the east. Earlier this year, however, he tried a mile and a sixteenth in the Grantland Rice Handicap at Florida Downs and pulled down a second place finish, behind multiple stakes-winner, No No Billy. Trainer Dick Fischer, who has developed Kentucky Oaks winner, Silent Beauty, and the top sprinter, Marshua's Dancer, in recent years, appears unconcerned about the distance, finding the weight to be of more importance.

mediate importance. The handsome son of Sensitivo—La Morlaye is expected to work out at Keeneland in midweek and his appearance in Central Ohio on the weekend will depend on the quality of that trial.

Of course there is a good chance that the Dienst Handicap will have to be split into two divisions, since, apparently, a large number of the twenty-eight nominees are still considering Saturday's test a go. Last year's Dienst was the first ever run in two divisions with Sire Woodley, now retired, sharing the headlines with Call Me Jodie.

Equally pegged as the high-weighted contenders for Saturday's feature are Cassidy & Oder's Big Spade and Zimmerman & Zweisler's Jesta Dream Away, each assigned 124 pound imposts. Both were winners in divisions of the Trial Handicap at Beulah last Saturday, with the former going a mile and seventy yards in 1:42, a second and three-fifths faster than the other section.

Big Spade's six wins in eight 1974 tries will not be overlooked, although Bootlegger's Pet bested him in the Latonia Championship in March. Meanwhile, no one overlooks trainer Jim Morgan's charge, which won a division of the Ohio Championship Handicap last fall at Beulah and is seeking to become the first horse ever to win both Beulah main events.

In all the 1974 edition of the Dienst Memorial Handicap lives up to and may exceed expectations and hopes of local racegoers. With cooperation from the weatherman, records could again fall in all areas and Beulah Park's first $1,000,000 day could be the result.

ABA Drafts 2 From Wide Field

NEW YORK (AP) — The American Basketball Association, armed with nearly 200 draftees—including high school sensation Moses Malone and 50 from the rival National Basketball Association—today sets out in its quest to become what Commissioner Mike Storen calls “the best basketball league possible.”

The ABA has amassed its formidable group of draftees over the last 15 months, with most of its selections being made Wednesday. They included the 50 from the NBA in an unprecedented and open declaration of warfare, 79 collegians and the brilliant Malone, who averaged 35.8 points and 25 rebounds during the 1973-74 season in leading Petersburg, Va., H.S. to its second straight state championship.

Twenty other college players were selected in a secret draft last month, and 43 others are holdovers from three separate drafts conducted last year, beginning in January, 1973.

Each group contains some highly intriguing prospects, and now the ABA will begin unloosening its purse strings in efforts to sign them.

Perhaps the most intriguing is Malone. The dynamic 6-foot-11, 210-pound teenager has been swamped with various collegiate offers. But when the Utah Stars surprisingly picked him Wednesday, it marked the first concrete move by the pros to lure him. Previously, the Virginia Squires had only talked to him.

Bob Kilbourne, Petersburg

High's athletic director, said he feels Malone should go to college first: “I can't predict what he will do, but I believe up to now his thoughts have been going to college.”

Arnie Ferrin, the Stars' general manager, said that Larry Creger, the club's director of player personnel and assistant coach, would go to Virginia today and discuss the situation with Malone and his family.

“If we find out that his parents don't want him to turn pro yet,” said Ferrin, “we won't pressure them.”

The Stars, however, would lose the rights to Malone—under a new ABA rule—if they don't sign him by September — and he would become eligible for the draft again next year.

But that's not the case with such All-Americans as Bill Walton of UCLA, David Thompson of North Carolina State, Marvin Barnes of Providence and John Shumate of Notre Dame—all of whom were drafted as undergraduates last year, but have not yet signed.

The 6-11 Walton, a three-time All-American and two-time Player of the Year, still belongs to the San Diego Conquistadors. Thompson, this season's Player of the Year, is the property of the Memphis Tams. Barnes belongs to the Denver Rockets and Shumate to Virginia.

Stans Denies Secret Contribution Illegal

NEW YORK (AP) — Former Commerce secretary Maurice H. Stans says he had a mandate to keep secret financier Robert L. Vesco's $200,000 cash contribution to President Nixon's 1972 re-election campaign. He swears he was not covering up any misdeeds of his own, or anyone else.

Stans testified about a March 14, 1972, meeting of campaign officials, including four White House aides. He said it was decided not to follow the lead of Democratic presidential aspirant George McGovern, who voluntarily released names of campaign contributors.

"I took that as a mandate to me to do everything possible to insure the privacy of these contributors," Stans told a jury Wednesday at his federal conspiracy trial. He is a codefendant with John N. Mitchell, the former attorney general.

"That was behind the whole thing," the 66-year-old Stans said at another point. "Vesco made a contribution in private and privacy was his constitutional right under the law. I was doing my best to protect Robert Vesco and every other contributor up to April 7."

A new law effective April 7, 1972, mandated the reporting of all campaigned contributions from that point on. Stans was still under direct examination when the trial recessed for the night. He will return to the stand when it resumes today.

Mitchell and Stans are accused of conspiring to obstruct justice for allegedly attempting to impede a Securities and Exchange Commission fraud investigation into Vesco's affairs, in exchange for the $200,000 secret contribution, and later lying about it to a grand jury.

One of the most potent government witnesses against Stans was G. Bradford Cook, general counsel and later chairman of the SEC. He admitted he lied under oath about Stans on five earlier occasions, but insisted his trial testimony was the truth.

In line with a key clause in the conspiracy count, Cook testified Stans got him to change a paragraph in a proposed SEC complaint about Vesco, to delete specific reference to the transfer of the $200,000 in cash that made up the contribution.

"I did not ask Brad Cook to delete anything on that occasion or any other occasion," said Stans. He said Cook told him he was having the paragraph reworked at his own instigation because it was too "sensational."

Glenn OKs Debate With Metzenbaum

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

U.S. Senate candidate John Glenn accepted his opponent's challenge Wednesday to public debates, but he promised U.S. Sen. Howard Metzenbaum, D-Ohio, he would press hard on the issue of "openness and candor" in financial disclosures.

In response, Metzenbaum, on the campaign trail in Canton, said he "is anxious to ask Col. Glenn a few questions about his finances, too."

Glenn said he would debate Metzenbaum April 25 on WEWS-TV in Cleveland, May 1 at the Cincinnati Communications Coalition and May 3 at the Cleveland City Club.

"I believe the public's right to see the candidates for the Democratic nomination discuss issues on the same platform should not be impaired any longer by Howard's refusal to make a complete financial disclosure," Glenn said.

Responded Metzenbaum: "I am pleased that John Glenn has partially capitulated on the issue of free and open debate. But he is still running away from making himself available in Columbus, Toledo and Dayton."

Glenn earlier had accepted a date to debate Metzenbaum in Cleveland, then changed his mind saying he would only participate in a debate if Metzenbaum disclosed his federal income tax returns for 1969-2.

Glenn said Wednesday the same provision goes for any debates other than the three he listed.

Both candidates disclosed their federal and state income tax returns for 1973, but Metzenbaum has refused to disclose prior income tax forms claiming they include information about private individuals who have not waived their rights to privacy.

Earlier in the year Metzenbaum released financial information which he said should clear up any questions about conflicts of interest.

Metzenbaum and Glenn both were scheduled to be in Cleveland tonight for fund-raising dinners.

In other Ohio politics, state Sen. Tony P. Hall, D-6 Dayton, candidate for secretary of state, blasted the Republican incumbent for a 24-year record of perpetuating "outdated election practices." Hall charged that Secretary of State Ted W. Brown "has consciously maintained practices which systematically deny the right to register and vote to thousands of Ohioans."

The unopposed Republican incumbent said his office for years has "been responsible for legislation that makes it easier to register and vote."

RCA Reports Sales Up, Profit Down

RCA sales in the first quarter of 1974 increased to $1.08 billion but earnings, influenced by an unfavorable economic environment, declined 17 per cent below the comparable 1973 period, Chairman Robert W. Sarnoff reported.

He said first quarter net profit was $34.8 million, equal to 45 cents a share. This compared with $41.7 million, or 54 cents a share a year ago. Sales were seven per cent above $1.01 billion in the first three months of 1973.

The RCA Chief Executive Officer said a combination of factors — increased labor costs, intensifying inflation, the energy shortfall, declining industrial production, critical materials scarcities — made the first quarter one of the most challenging in recent years.

Sarnoff said RCA felt the economic downturn primarily in the consumer areas of its diversified operations. Even though RCA increased its share of the domestic color television market, profits suffered as a result of a cost-price squeeze.

Tires, Rims Taken In Theft

City Police are investigating the theft of tires and rims from the Denise Stout residence, 137 Pleasant St., 10 p.m. Tuesday.

Mrs. Stout said her husband had the tires stored in the unlocked garage at the time of the theft.

The tires were estimated to be worth $60.

Patrolman Mike Eberhard investigated the theft.

Blossom Seeley Dies

2nd Man Succumbs To Balloon Injuries

ZANESVILLE, Ohio (AP) — A second man has died as a result of a balloon crash March 31 near Cambridge.

Tom LeBleu, 38, of El Paso, Tex. died Tuesday en route by ambulance from one hospital to another. LeBleu, a registered geologist, was being transferred from Cambridge to University Hospital in Columbus when his condition worsened. The ambulance was diverted to Zanesville, and LeBleu was dead on arrival at Good Samaritan Medical Center.

The pilot, Clyde H. Jacobs of Cambridge, died after the balloon fell into power lines, severing the gondola from the balloon and plunging the passengers to the ground.
